Grand Prix: great

By RICK WHEELER

"There is immeasurable public awareness in Europe of Grand Prix racing," said Mario Andretti, the only current successful U.S. driver on the Grand Prix circuit and the 1978 world driving champion.

"Their fervor is unbelievable. You can go into European airports, or restaurants, and if you're a regular on the Formula One tour you're next to God in their eyes. You can do no wrong."

"Each team has a certain individuality, as there are only one or two drivers. Each team really has its own design concept. And each team travels around the world as a unique billboard to millions and millions of people."

"Corporations like that individuality, and that's why Essex (Overseas Petroleum Co., representing Team Lotus) spent so much in entertaining the racing public."

Included in that entertainment was a double-tiered London bus, painted Essex blue, that Andretti said "traveled to every race in 1980. It provided all the comforts of home, and it even made it down the Amazon to one of our South American races. They spared no expenses to make us comfortable."

At Watkins Glen, Essex set up the bus behind the pits. It landscaped, paved and fenced off the area to make it look like a European outdoor cafe. A touch of Europe in the middle of 1,100 acres of American countryside.

"Essex spends money on racing because it knows it will make money in return," said Michael Tee, former managing editor (and now a director) of Motoring News of England.

"My company (CSS Promotions Ltd.) handled that Royal Albert Hall affair last year. It was a sit-down dinner for 800, with about 200 special guests, and I do mean special."

"I'd have to feel that the party, and probably the entire racing season, were paid for by the morning after the party ended by the oil deals David Thieme (the 38-year-old American who formed Essex Petroleum) was able to put together that weekend."

Thieme said that participation in Formula One racing is "a backcloth against which we can entertain some of our most important clients in our business, and it's been a

Cinderella in

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a baseball fairy tale acted out in front of 55,123 fans — the largest opening day crowd in the 58-year history of Yankee Stadium — and Bobby Murcer turned out to be Cinderella. Hanging onto his roster spot by the narrowest of threads, Murcer responded to a standing ovation from the record stadium crowd Thursday by walloping a pinch-hit, grand slam homer in the New York Yankees 10-3 rout of the Texas Rangers. The fans are aware of chills through my body." The count went to 3-2 — just like in the fairy tales — and Murcer connected for the sixth grand slam of his career and fourth as a Yankee. The roar of the fans was a factor, he said.

"Fan reaction plays a big part for a player, I think. It built me up a little extra. When you have their support you give it that little extra. It really got me going. It showed me the people are behind me all the way. It was very

LA's Sonora sensation baffles Houston 2-0

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

In their 24 years in Los Angeles, the Dodgers never had started a rookie pitcher on opening day — until, that is, a chubby 20-year-old named Fernando Valenzuela strode to the mound.

Valenzuela, a left-hander from Sonora, Mexico, still hasn't learned to speak English, but he had no trouble understanding Houston's batters. He tossed a five-hit shutout and led Dodgers to a 2-0 victory Thursday over the Astros, last season's nemesis.

Valenzuela, the youngest player in the major leagues, was pressed into service when Jerry Reuss pulled a muscle in his calf on Wednesday. He now has pitched 262-3 major league innings without yielding an earned run since being called up by the Dodgers last Sept. 10.

"He pitched like a man with 10 years' experience," said former Dodgers pitcher Don Sutton, now with the Astros.

Valenzuela said through an interpreter that he didn't expect to extend his string of scoreless innings much farther. "I'm not superman," he said. He did add later, though, that he felt no trepidation in filling the historic role.

7-1 victory over Los Angeles in a one-game playoff for the National League West title last season, was the victim this time. Niekro worked seven innings, yielding a run in the fourth on Ron Cey's sacrifice fly and another in the sixth on a double by Pedro Guerrero, who also had two singles.

Valenzuela struck out five Astros and walked two, using a wicked screwball that left Houston's right-handed hitters gawking.

"He would throw that screwball on a 3-2 pitch, and that is unusual," said Astros center fielder Cesar Cedeño. "But we will come to expect it."

A crowd of 50,511 pleasantly surprised spectators packed Dodger Stadium and cheered Valenzuela all the way. "It's nice to have a big cheer going for you," the pitcher said.

Sandusky 'sweeps' edge Ross

SANDUSKY — Ross came close but 1-2-3 sweeps by Sandusky in the 3200 meters and the pole vault handed the Blue Streaks a narrow 65-62 win in high school boys track Tuesday.

Trailing 57-46 going into the 3200 meters, Sandusky cut Ross's lead to 57-56 when Brian Putnam led Sandusky teammates Tony Williamson and Jim King across the finish line in the long distance run.

Putnam was timed in 10:18.6.

Ross increased its lead to 62-56 by winning the 1600 relay in 3:32.1 with the team of Eric Bates, Todd

Johnson, Rick Heidelberg and Tony Gant.

Then the results of the pole vault filtered in and Sandusky had the three-point win. Al Jenkins vaulted 13-feet to finish ahead of Curt Jenkins and Rick Jones of the Blue Streaks.

Gant was a double winner for Ross, taking the long jump with a leap of 21-3 and the 100 in 11.5.

The Little Giants won eight of the 15 events, taking the top two spots in the 100 and 200 meter dashes. Curtis Lee finished second to Gant in the 100 but was first in the 200. Mark Balsizer was second in the 200.

New record for Haas

Ross girls 'leap' past Findlay

Ross came up with just enough in the high jump to squeeze past Findlay 56-54 in a high school girls track meet at the Ross track Thursday.

Celene Simmons leaped four feet, eight inches to take second place and picked up three points in the jumping event to give the Lady Little Giants the win.

In the 1600 meter relay, the Ross girls broke a 48-48 deadlock, winning the event by two seconds over the Lady Trojans. Ross was timed in 4:35.37 while Findlay finished the distance in 4:37.70. Members of the Ross relay were Joan Osmon, Judy Krock, Sandy Long and Tammy Haas.

The narrow Ross victory was highlighted by a record smashing effort by Haas in the 800 meters. The Ross senior ran the two-lap race in 2:25.33, breaking the 1980 mark set by Osmon of 2:26.6.

Ross captured seven of the 14 events with Laurie Smith winning her specialties, the shot put and discus. Haas also won twice, adding a first place in the hurdles to her 800 meter win.

In the shot put, Ross took all three top places with Amy Lindstrom finishing second a Johanna Hawk third. The 1-2-3 sweep offset a top three sweep posted by Findlay in the long jump.
