The days are getting longer and seem to be getting a little warmer. That can only mean that high school wrestling is coming to a close and the tournaments are on their way.

With area wrestlers looking ahead to sectional and district tournaments, this weekend's league tournaments play an important role in preparing the kids for the coming weeks.

In the Great Lakes League, the favorite is Bedford. The Kicking Mules once again have a very strong program and have shown it throughout the season.

Fremont Ross's Zac Potridge has a good shot at a title, as do Rick Legg and Mike Adams.

The favorite to win the Midland Athletic League tournament is Mohawk. The Warriors are ranked ninth in Division III in the most recent state poll.

For St. Joseph Central Catholic, four wrestlers have good chances to win titles: Dan Szymanowski, Brian Lenhart, Jerry Freeh and Dave Klotz.

The Sandusky Bay Conference tournament looks to be a very solid one, as usual. The favorites coming in are Sandusky St. Mary and Oak Harbor, which finished first and second respectively in the SBC Duals.

Clyde and Sandusky Perkins are two other teams that could make a run at the title.

"It's an extremely tough tournament," said Clyde coach Dale Carroll. "Oak Harbor and St. Mary both beat us in the duals. So for us to win, we've got to place 12 kids in the top four, and pins could be extremely important."

Doug West and Rondall Blackburn look to continue their SBC tournament success. They have won it the past two years and will play key roles if Clyde hopes to come away with the title.

Three area schools will battle it out in the Suburban Lakes League tournament. Lakota, Woodmore and Gibsonburg will all be fighting for the title.

"Seven SLL teams are in the same (Northwood) sectional," said Lakota coach Joe Wyant. "It's the best Division III sectional in northwest Ohio and it will be tough for us from here on out."

The team to beat is Elmwood. The Royals are closely followed by Genoa and Lakota.

Contenders for titles include Lakota's Brian Jacobs at 152, Eric Ochs at 189, Ben Miller and Chad Conrad from Gibsonburg, and Juventino Guillen, John Bedford, Bill Weiland and Ray Lewis for Woodmore.
