

1990 Season review...

Ross wrestling team has strong nucleus but lacks depth

By BOB MARKER

Line the Fremont wrestlers up and Coach Al Voggenthaler likes what he sees. Look over their shoulders toward the second line and the view changes.

"We have good first-line talent," the veteran of 18 wrestling seasons at Ross said, "but if we have any amount of injuries, we are going to be in trouble in some weight classes."

But before the first whistle, a strong nucleus of returning lettermen and a couple of standout freshmen have Voggenthaler optimistic.

From the lightweights, junior letterman Ryan Riedmaier is a 112-pounder but one of the freshmen, David Alejandro, may force him to drop to 103, Voggenthaler said.

Two-year junior letterman Daniel Costello will wrestle at 125 and Brian Palomo, co-captain and a three-year letterman is at 130. Senior Phil Missig is at 140 and Dan Lopez, who won three letters at St. Joseph Central Catholic before transferring to Ross for his senior year, is at 145. Lopez was fifth in the state at 135 in Class A last season.

Another two-year junior letterman, Charles Chapman, is at 152 and senior letterman Terry Carter will be at 160 when he recovers from a knee injury suffered the second week of practice.

Rob LeMay, a senior, is at 171 if he makes the weight. Brian Moreno, also a two-year junior letterman, is at 189 and the heavyweight is junior Chad Green, who lettered last season at Gibsonburg High School.

"We have two freshmen who should be in the lineup," Voggenthaler said. "Both should do very well and not just fill a spot; they have a very high skill level and should compete very well."

Along with Alejandro is classmate John Lugar who will likely be the 119-pounder.

"Riedmaier and Alejandro are very close in the wrestle-offs," Voggenthaler said. "Riedmaier could come down a weight fairly easily because he is not too far from it right now."

David Boda is another possibility at 103, his natural weight, the Ross coach said. "After a good meal, he weighs 104, maybe."

The 103 and 112 pound divisions are fairly strong Voggenthaler said but from there, it drops off.

"We only have one real heavyweight that's Chad Green; we just don't have a lot of experience behind the front-liners even though we still have 36 wrestlers after three weeks of practice," he said.

There are 12 freshmen, six sophomores,

10 juniors and eight seniors on the Ross roster.

"It is a good group of ninth-graders and some of them will backup but they basically lack experience," Voggenthaler said.

"We have a solid nucleus, but we do have some weak weight classes (135 and 140) where we won't be knocking the socks off too many people and until we get Carter back, we are not too strong at 160."

Looking at the schedule, Ross will not compete in the 36-team Medina tournament in mid-December, opting for the 24-team Alliance Tournament Feb. 2-3.

Lakewood St. Edward and Cleveland St. Joseph are two other teams in that tournament.

The Buckeye Central Conference Tournament is Feb. 17 in Lancaster. Ross won the BCC crown two years ago in the dual-meet format but finished second behind Findlay last year.

On Jan. 6, Ross makes its first home appearance in the eight-team Mal Mackey Invitational. Area teams Clyde and Lakota along with Sylvania Northview and Southview, Vermilion, Lorain Senior and Toledo Waite comprise that field.

This evening at 6 p.m., Ross will host Rossford in a preseason preview. The Little Giants open the regular season at 6 p.m. Wednesday at Maumee High School.

Carter, Lopez lead Ross into Rogers Invitational

News-Messenger reports

Fremont Ross is one of 16 teams vying for the title in the Rogers Invitational Wrestling Tournament Friday and Saturday at Toledo Rogers High School.

The Little Giants finished second in 1988.

Defending 160-pound champion Terry Carter, the only returning tournament champ, and Dan Lopez were seeded first to lead a group of 10 Little Giants seeded in the top six. Lopez, a Division III state tournament qualifier while wrestling for Fremont St. Joseph Central Catholic last season, will wrestle at 145.

Other Ross seeded wrestlers include David Boda, second at 103; third seeds Daniel Costilla (125), Brian Palomo (130) and Chad Green (heavyweight);

Ryan Riedmaier (112), John Lugar (119) and Charles Chapman (152), fourth seeds; and Brian Moreno (189), sixth.

"The heavyweight division is loaded," Ross Coach Al Voggenthaler said. "There area lot of big heavyweight including our's at 271."

Based on seeded wrestlers, Voggenthaler say Galoway Westland is the pre-tournament favorite with 12 seeded wrestlers.

"The talent is spread out," Voggenthaler said, "but Alliance is always strong.

"As for us, I think we have a shot at finishing near the top."

The Ross coach called the tournament "... an early season test."

"It gives us something to guage our season by, at least against Northwest Ohio teams," Voggenthaler said. "Plus there are enough teams outside of Northwest Ohio to make it interesting."

Wrestling begins at 4 p.m., Friday with two rounds. Wrestling Saturday begins at 11 a.m. with the finals at 7 p.m. Adult tickets are $2 and students $1 for each session.

Other teams in the tournament include Anthony Wayne, Toledo schools Bowsher, DeVilbiss, Mecomber, Scott and host Rogers, Dayton Meadowdale, Port Clinton, Springfield Local, Amherst Steele, Tiffin Columbian, Wauseon and Wapakoneta.

Little Giants win 13-team invitational

By BOB MARKER
Staff writer

TOLEDO — Fremont Ross, behind Terry Carter's second tournament title, won the 18th Rogers Invitational Wrestling Tournament Saturday.

The Little Giants racked up 200 points in the 13-team, two-day tournament, finishing 12 points ahead of host Rogers High School.

Ross was second in the tournament last year, the third time the Little Giants had finished in the runner-up slot.

"I think I have been in everyone of those slots," Ross Coach Al Voggethaler said while looking at the leaders board.

Saturday, he could look over his shoulder and see all the rest for the first time.

"It was just a super effort," Ross Coach Al Voggenthaler said. "Everyone of the kids won at least one match."

Springfield Local was third with 151½, Anthony Wayne was fourth with 141 and Amherst Steele with 108½ rounded out the top five.

Carter won the 160-pound division title and four other Little Giants were runners-up.

Carter, seeded first, breezed through his first two matches with falls. In the finals, the senior defeated Mark Akers of Tiffin Columbian 7-5.

Akers led Carter 5-4 in the final period before running into trouble. Carter rolled Akers onto his back and held him there for nearly a half-minute for three points and the win.

Dan Lopez, 145, John Lugar, 119, Scott Mezinger, 171, and Chad Green, heavyweight, finished second for Ross.

Lopez was beaten 10-0 in the finals by Bill Taylor of Rogers and Lugar, a freshman, was out-pointed by top-seeded Cory Weaver of Anthony Wayne 17-4 in his title match.

Mezinger, who was not seeded, lost to Seth Gresser of Wauseon 12-6 and the second-seeded Green was nippd 10-8 by top-seeded Bill Frye of Rogers.

"Mezinger was a surprise," Voggethaler said, "and Lugar did a very good job. The kid he lost to was a national age group finalist."

Dave Boda, 103, of Ross was third but won the tournament's Tom Kingsley Award for the most pins in the least amount of time. Boda had three in two minutes and 25 seconds. In the consolation finals — the match for third place — Boda pinned Mike Reynolds of Port Clinton in 57 seconds.

Other Little Giants who finished in the top six were Ryan Riedmaier, 112, fifth; Daniel Costilla, 125, sixth; Brian Palomo, 130, fifth; Phil Missig, 140, fifth; and Charles Chapman, 152, fourth.

One bad note for Ross, Costilla will be out for at least a month according to Voggenthaler, after dislocating his left elbow in the semifinals, forcing him to default in his last two matches.

Little Giants seek 5th straight Mackey title

17th annual tournament unpredictable

By BOB MARKER

Staff writer

Al Voggenthaler could not escape it.

"I don't want to give myself the kiss of death," the Ross wrestling coach said.

Voggenthaler wanted to, but couldn't deny the obvious: his team is favored to win its fifth consecutive Mal Mackey Wrestling Tournament title Saturday at Fremont Ross High School.

"I would have to say we are one of the favorites," Voggenthaler said grudgingly.

Ross will host Clyde, Lakota, Lorain Senior, Sylvania Northview and Southview, Toledo

Waite and Vermilion in the 17th Mackey tournament.

"I look for strong competition from the local schools," Voggenthaler said about Lakota and Clyde.

Lakota won the Fremont St. Joe Invitational last month while Clyde was second.

"It is hard for me to gauge them because we do not wrestle any of the same teams," Voggenthaler said.

Ross also brings impressive credentials into the tournament.

The Little Giants are 3-0 in dual meets and won the 13-team Rogers Invitational in mid-December.

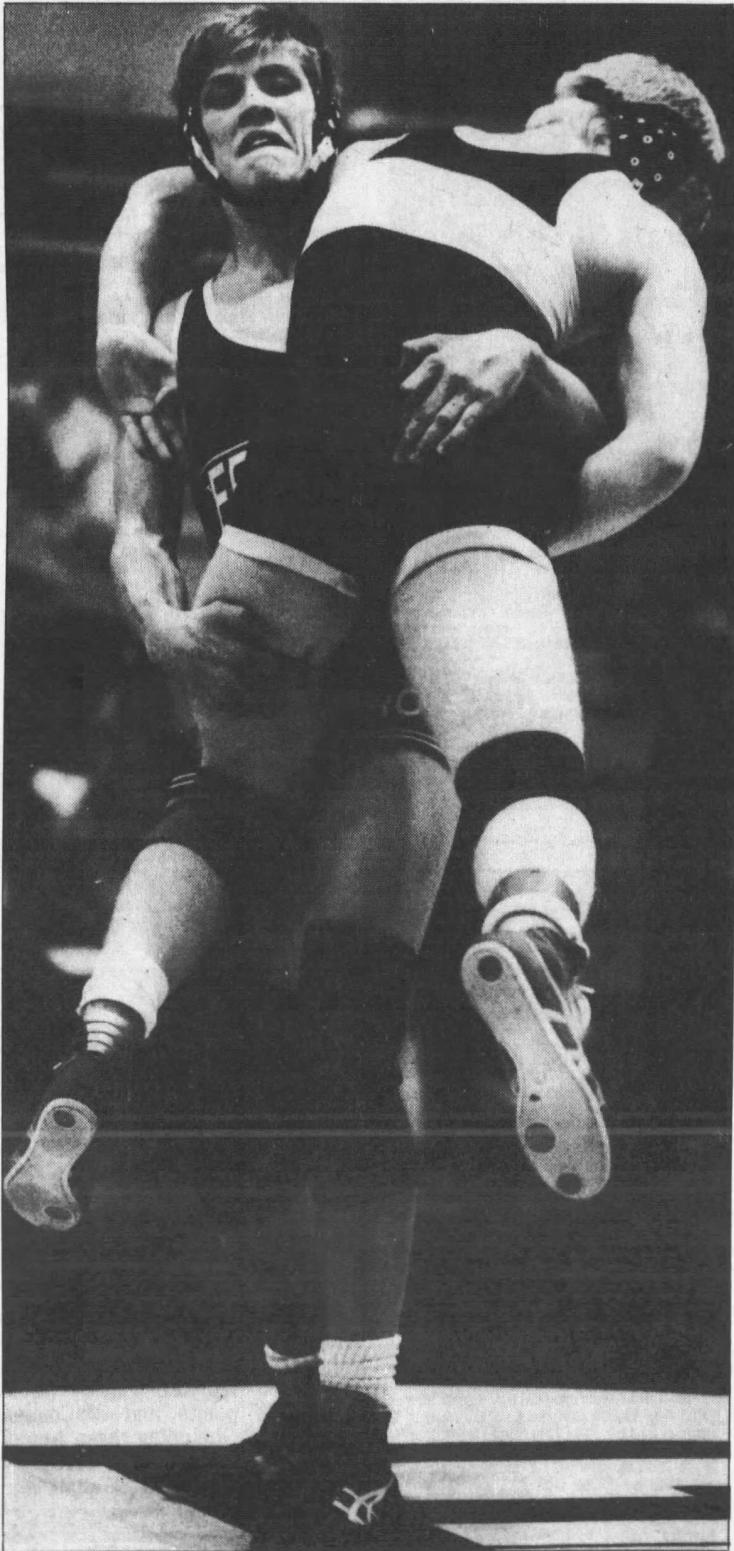

"It's been very pleasing to me," Voggenthaler said. "To see the balance that we have shown all the way through the lineup.

"We won the Rogers tournament with just one champion but we had 11 of 13 wrestlers place."

Voggenthaler agreed that formula wins tournaments.

"This year's tournament may not be as strong as in past years," Voggenthaler said about the Mackey tourney, "but there is enough talent in each weight class it makes it unpredictable."

Wrestling begins at 11 a.m. and the finals in the championship and consolation rounds begin at 7 p.m.

Lakota 2-0 in Fremont Raiders win Mackey title

By BOB MARKER

Lakota won its second high school wrestling tournament in Fremont this season, winning the 17th Mal Mackey Tournament Saturday at Ross High School.

The Raiders rolled up 172 points to dethrone defending champion Ross. Clyde was second with 157 and the Little Giants third at 150½.

Toledo Waite was fourth with 90½. Sylvania Southview, Vermilion, Lorain and Northview comprised the second division.

Clyde was also the runner-up when the Raiders won the St. Joe Invitational in December.

"We felt we had a shot at the top," Lakota Coach Bob Young said, "and we knew that it would be Fremont and Clyde that we really had to work hard against."

Lakota led Clyde 147½-141 going into the finals. After three weight divisions in the finals, Clyde crept ahead 150-147½ before Eric Lippert put the Raiders back on top for good with a win in the 125-pound finals.

"If there was a turning point," Young said, "everytime we wrestled Clyde head-to-head in the finals and beat them, that was a big turnaround."

Lakota wrestlers lost three times to Clyde in the championship or consolation finals. One of losses was at 112 where the Fliers' Bubba Taylor defeated Cody Roth 14-6. Taylor was named the tournament's outstanding wrestler by a vote of the eight coaches.

"Taylor is a man on a mission," Clyde Coach Doug Fields said. "His mission is to get to Cincinnati (site of the state tour-name) and win it all."

Fields' team did a bit better than he expected.

"We felt, realistically, top four with a chance for third," Fields said, "but we got some breaks and the kids went out and did what they had to."

"The breaks came down to the little things. This guy winning one match ... I think everybody but one guy won a match today and that is what is needed. We placed 11 guys and that was more than at St. Joe."

Lakota wrestlers won three championships and placed second in three others to go along with a pair of thirds and two fourths. In addition to Lippert's title, Ryan Tyson (130) and Chad Biddle (135) won championships.

Clyde, in addition to Taylor's crown, got individual titles from Brian Villalon (119) and Jay Eisenhower (189) to go with two seconds, two thirds and four fourth places.

"We knew Lakota and Clyde were tough," Ross Coach Al Voggenthaler said, "and they showed it. They came to wrestle in the early part and we were not ready to wrestle.

"We lost some early matches. I felt like I was a tour guide at Three-Mile Island — it was just a big disaster for us."

One thing that brought smiles to Voggenthaler's face was Phil Missig's title at 140 pounds. It was the first championship for the senior.

"He did a super job," the Ross coach said. "I can't say enough positive things about him. He does not have a lot of God-given talent but he just works his rear end off."

Missig outpointed Jonah Rowell of Lakota 5-2 in the finals. Other Ross champions were Dan Lopez (145), Terry Carter (160) and heavyweight Chad Green.

Carter trailed 7-2 after being slapped on his back by Waite's Josh Deer in the second period but came back to pin Deer in 3:49 of the same period.

Lopez dominated Shawn Chesser of Southview before pinning him in five minutes and Green pinned Matt Paxson of Lakota in the third period for his title.

Ross also had four thirds and a pair of fourth-place finishers.

One other special award went to Chris Cartwright of Vermilion for most falls (three) in the least amount of time (five minutes and 19 seconds).

Carter helps Ross roll over Rogers

By TIM HARMON

Staff writer

Terry Carter's pin of Jeremy Rhoads at 160 pounds set the tone Saturday and Fremont Ross rolled to a 45-8 high school wrestling victory over Toledo Rogers.

"That was a good win for us," Ross Coach Al Voggenthaler said. "We got our confidence back after not wrestling so well last week (in the Mal Mackey Invitational)."

Carter and Rhoads opened the match because Carter was scheduled to visit Miami (Ohio) University Saturday as a potential Redskin football recruit.

After Carter pinned Rhoads in 51 seconds, Ross strung four decisions and Dave Alejandro's 6-6 draw with Josh Carr at 112 pounds together for a 21-2 lead.

"One of the keys was we got off to a good start," Voggenthaler said. "Carr has won the Rogers Tournament at least twice and tying him was like a win to us."

Dave Boda preceded Alejandro's draw with a 14-2 decision over Jeff Punteri and John Lugar. Jon Alejandro and Brian Palomo followed it with 12-7, 8-5 and 4-2 decisions, respectively.

Rogers got back in the match, 21-8, after decisions by Robert Hubbard and Chris Shipley at 135 and 140 pounds. Hubbard, while leading Rodney Pettiford 7-2, overcame a three-point near fall with a reversal and three back points of his own to win 12-6.

Ross 145-pounder Dan Lopez then avenged his only loss of the season with a 11-7 victory over Bill Taylor, who defeated Lopez 10-0 in the 145-pound championship match at the Rogers Tournament Dec. 16.

The loss was the first of the season for Taylor, who typifies the Rams' style of wrestling, according to Voggenthaler.

"Rogers likes to try to work the edges of the mat," Voggenthaler said. "We worked all week on staying out of that and it paid off for us."

"Lopez's match was another bright spot and (heavyweight) Chad Green moved real well."

Green also avenged his only loss of the season, a 10-8 setback against Bill Frye at the Rogers Tournament, when Frye defaulted after the second period with an apparent pulled muscle in his left leg. Green was leading 6-3 at the time of the default.

In between the victories by Lopez and Green, Charles Chapman defeated Keith Drew 6-1 at 152 pounds, Scott Mezinger pinned Don Wing in 17 seconds at 171 and 189-pounder Brian Moreno pinned John McGee in 34 seconds.

"We stunk," Rogers Coach Ray Steely said.

"This was the worst dual match I've ever seen wrestled and I've been doing this 26 years."

Ross, 4-0, won the 13-team Rogers Tournament with 200 points when 11 of 13 of its wrestlers placed in the top four.

"That gave us an indication that we had real dual meet potential," Voggenthaler said. Saturday's win proved it.

News-Messenger reports

Fremont Ross will put its 4-0 dual meet record on the line tonight in a high school wrestling match at Sandusky Perkins.

The Pirates are rated by a poll of coaches as the 13th best Division II wrestling team in Ohio.

The Little Giants are fresh from Saturday's victory over Toledo Rogers.

Ross has also defeated Maumee, Oregon Clay and Fostoria.

Terry Carter at 160 pounds, 145-pounder Dan Lopez and heavyweight Chad Green have been particularly strong of late for the Little Giants.

SANDUSKY — Chad Green came through in the clutch for Fremont Ross.

Green pinned Perkins' heavyweight Chad Johnson in 1:16 Thursday night, giving Ross a 31-26 dual meet wrestling victory over the Pirates.

The Little Giants, 5-0, trailed 16-0 and 20-3 before turning the match around.

Perkins won the first four matches and five of the first six, with Brian Palomo's 9-2 decision over Kenny Wright at 130 pounds the lone Ross win.

Phil Missig, Dan Lopez, Charles Chapman, Terry Carter and Scott Mezinger then reeled off five straight wins, sparked by Missig's pin at 140.

Ross led 25-20 at that point, but Matt Cadez of Perkins pinned Brian Moreno at 189 and the Pirates regained the lead.

Green then finished things off.

Ross wrestlers remain perfect

Findlay, Toledo CC latest victims

BY JOHN CUMMINGS
Staff correspondent

"Fatigue is a state of mind," is a sign posted in many wrestling team locker rooms.

Fremont Ross put that saying to the test Friday night, hosting a tri-match 24 hours after defeating Toledo Bowsher 40-21. The end result was the same, as the Little Giants ran their record to 8-0 with a 47-16 victory over Findlay and a 37-21 win over Toledo Central Catholic.

Toledo Central Catholic also defeated Findlay, 54-11.

"We thought of this (the last two days) as kind of a mini-tournament," Ross Coach Al Voggenthaler said. "We scheduled this to have an inside on tournament wrestling, because you have to respond at a tournament, so I didn't think it was going to hurt."

After easily disposing of Findlay in rounds one and two, Ross took to the task of finishing the night perfect against the Irish.

Ross finished round one (103-pounds through 135-pounds) down 12-10 to the Irish, after winning just two of the first six matches, and seeing another win slip into a draw.

David Alejandro posted a 12-0 victory in the TCC match to finish the night 2-0 at 112 pounds, and Brian Palomo (130) posted a 13-2 win for the only lightweight wins against the Irish.

David Boda had almost given Ross a 3-0 lead at 103 against Toledo, building a 4-1 lead late into the third period. However, the Irish's Andy Miller tilted Boda with 11 seconds left for three nearfall points to end the bout in a 4-4 draw.

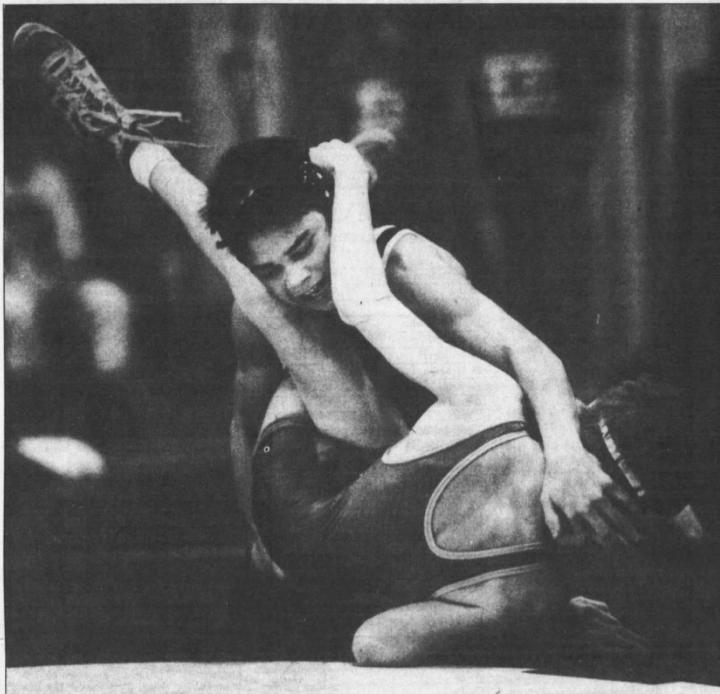

"I figured if we came out of the lower weights (against Toledo Central Catholic) with three wins we'd be alright," Voggenthaler said. "We got away with two wins and a draw. I think our lightweights responded pretty well."

Going into the last round (140-heavyweight) Voggenthaler shook things up. He moved Dan Lopez down to 140 from 145 to face the Irish's Mark Gerken.

Lopez built a 9-2 lead in the second period and had Gerken looking at the lights, compliments of a double arm bar, when Gerken's shoulder popped, forcing him to default with 20 seconds left in the period.

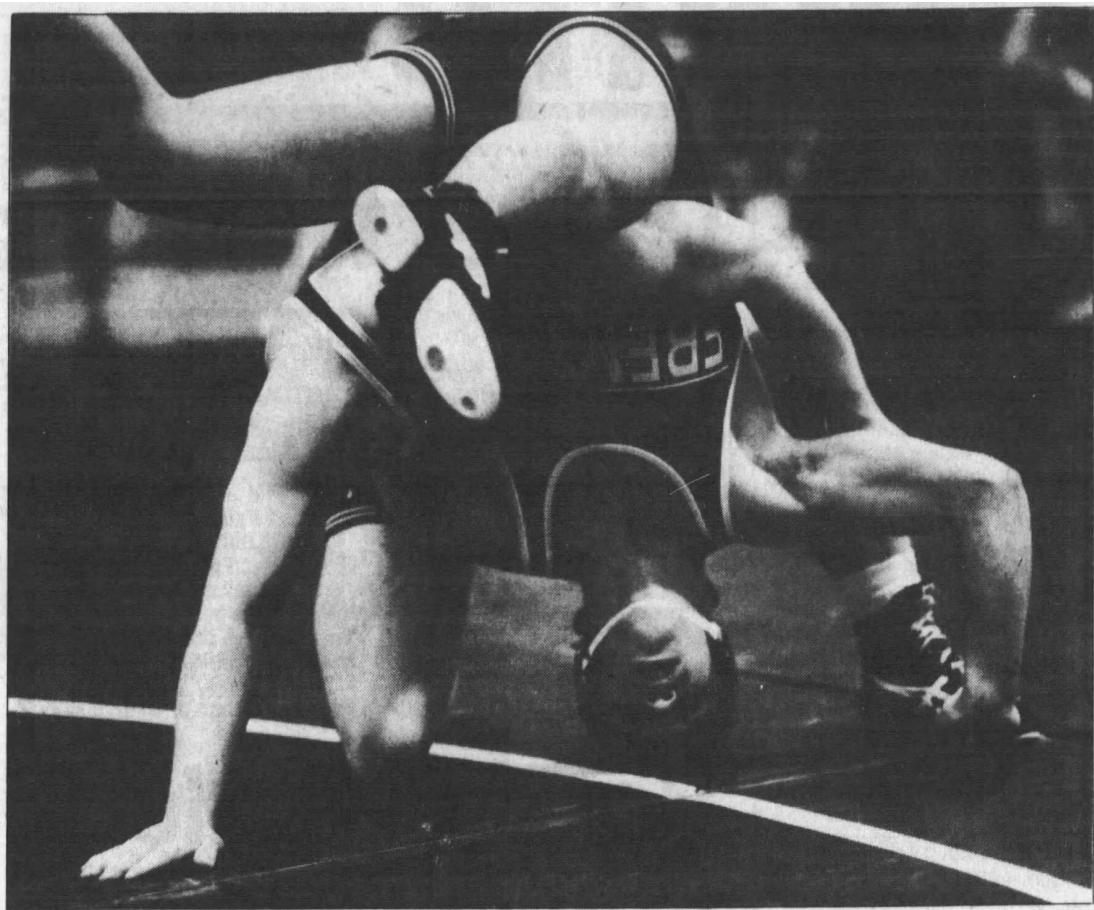

"They (Ross) kind of caught us there (moving Lopez)," To-Iledo Central Catholic Coach John Brown said after his team fell to 3-1 in dual action. "We had Gerken bumped up because he had been sick, and we had thought of them moving Lopez down, but decided against them doing that. But, it was a smart decision on their part."

With Lopez at 140, Phil Missig moved up to 145, and the senior responded with a fall in 3:24 over Paul Mayes.

"Dan (Lopez) was real close to 140 (pounds) so it made the decision easier," Voggenthaler said. "We figured Missig would be able to handle their kid, and he did so it paid off."

"That was the turning point, we needed to come out ahead there."

Missig's pin boosted the Ross lead to 22-12, but the Irish came back winning by a fall at 152.

Toledo Central Catholic cut the lead to one, 22-21, when K.C. Ruddy (160) handed Terry Carter his first loss in a controversial match 10-7. Carter had reversed Ruddy, and turned him to his back when the official heard the buzzer from the other mat. Thinking that the buzzer was from their mat, the official blew the whistle, then awarded Carter two nearfall points.

"Terry just couldn't pull it out (after the inadvertent referee's error)," Voggenthaler said. "We figured on pulling out of danger with Carter."

The win by Ruddy gave the Irish momentary control of momentum.

"The match was finally going in our direction," Brown said.

"We then had to win at 189 to have a chance, but our kid at 189 is a sophomore, and he's having a tough year."

Ross swept the last three matches for the victory. Scott Mezinger of Ross defeated Kevin McGreevy 9-8 at 171 and Brian Moreno pinned Findlay's Tony Paprocki in 1:27 of the 189 match and Ross had the match sewn up.

Chad Green added icing to the win in the heavyweight match. Wrestling with nine stitches in his left hand, Green pinned Keary Sarabia in 5:20.

"We had thought of pulling him (Green)," Voggenthaler said, "but with the tournaments coming up he has to learn that it (his hand) is something he has to adjust to."

The Ross wrestlers return to action next weekend at the Alliance Tournament.

Ross faces stern test at Alliance tournament

News-Messenger reports

The Fremont Ross High School wrestling team will get a taste of state tournament level competition this weekend.

The Little Giants will wrestle in the fourth annual Alliance wrestling tournament as part of a 26-team field that includes the top three Division I teams in the state.

"We need to compete at the state level and this is about as close as you can get," Ross Coach Al Voggenthaler said.

Lakewood St. Edward, Cleveland St. Joe and Stow Walsh Jesuit, rated numbers one through three in Ohio's big school division, are all entered in a field that includes numerous wrestlers who placed in state competition in 1989.

Maumee and Mansfield are other Northwest Ohio teams in the field which is composed mostly of Northeast Ohio schools. Ross is competing at Alliance for the first time.

The Little Giants, 8-0 in dual meet competition, are led into the tournament by Dan Lopez, 14-1 at 140; Chad Green, 13-1 at heavyweight; Terry Carter, 12-2 at 160; Brian Palomo, 15-3 at 130; and Dave Boda 12-3-1 at 103.

Voggenthaler said the Giants entered the tournament "because of the stiff competition."

"We wrestled at Medina in the past and I think this is every bit as tough," he said. "Maybe even tougher than Medina."

Wrestling begins at 4 p.m. Friday and resumes at 11 a.m. Saturday with the finals at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Voggenthaler said the Alliance Tournament is a good test for Ross, which won the Toledo Rogers Tournament earlier this season.

The Buckeye Central Conference meet, a triple dual because Zanesville does not having a wrestling team, is scheduled for Feb. 17 at Lancaster.

"The week following the conference we start the sectional, district and state," Voggenthaler said. "We are trying to get in that frame of mind right now."

The Ross coach suggests that persons planning to attend this weekend's tournament follow the Ohio Turnpike to exit 13, go southeast on Ohio Route 14, turn south on Ohio Route 183 and follow 183 to Alliance.

He estimated that the trip takes more than 2½ hours.

Ross beats Whitmer

By BOB MARKER
Staff writer

Dan Lopez set a team record as Ross dominated Whitmer 53-7 in a wrestling match that was over before it started.

Whitmer brought only eight wrestlers to the Purple Pit Thursday night and the five forfeitures gave Ross a 30-0 lead before any Little Giant had broken a sweat.

The easy win was the ninth against no losses for the Little Giants.

"We wrestled a little flat," Ross Coach Al Voggenthaler said after the match struggled from beginning to end.

Lopez was the highlight of the night, establishing a Ross season takedown record before hanging on to defeat Whitmer's Chris Lutz 13-7 in the 140-pound match.

Lopez, who transferred from Fremont St. Joseph Central Catholic this summer, entered the match with 94 takedowns, two short of Mike Mezinger's 1985 record. Mezinger, now a Ross coach, watched as Lopez scored on two takedowns in the first 18 seconds to tie his record.

Fifty-seven seconds later, Lopez scored his 97th takedown to grab a spot in the Ross record book. He finished with five takedowns and will have 99 when Ross visits Sandusky Wednesday.

Dave Alejandro, 112, had the only Ross pin, stopping Scott Kreps in 2:35.

Ross's Terry Carter scored a technical fall, defeating Whitmer 160-pounder Rob Firsdon 22-3.

Phil Missig, 145, came up with a 9-8 win over Whitmer's Jamie Vigh. Missig came off his back to wipe out an 8-2 deficit, scoring on a reversal with 90 seconds remaining in the match for the win.
