

Boys cross country Regional Giants

Derek Hill finished the Division I District race in fourth at 16:55 as Fremont Ross was the third team to advance to regionals at Tiffin Carnival on Saturday.

Hill led the field until the 2-mile mark.

"That was big to watch him take it out hard and really go for it," coach Cathy Esposito said. "We had a nice pack of six near the front for most of the race."

Ross finished 11 points behind Maumee with 80.

Jay Ohms was sixth in 16:59, Nathan Bowen finished 22nd in 17:46, Elon Simms 24th in 17:48 and Josh Ohms 28th in 17:59 for the Little Giants.

"One of the keys was Elon Simms' race. He helped us out a lot," Esposito said.

Esposito said the team's goal was to catch Maumee. Ross had its top two runners finish ahead of the Panthers' lead runner, but the remaining Maumee runners ran a little better than she anticipated as four came in before the Little Giants' third finisher.

Ross wasn't seeded at the meeting prior to the race and took advantage of being in the background.

"People didn't know our potential," Esposito said. "Other coaches didn't perceive we were as strong as we are. It's easier to be underdogs. Great teams can't get it done at the end sometimes."

"And people didn't expect Nathan Bowen to be part of their problem. St. Francis is an example of that, they were heavily favored to finish ahead of us."

St. Francis finished fourth with 103.
