GENOA TRIPS LAKOTA, 61-51:

Ross Holds Off Rockets, 47-46

By GLEN GEIB

Ross high's cagers took a shaky step into the second round of sectional tournament play Friday night at Tiffin Columbian gym, eking out a one-point victory over a scrappy and near-victorious Oak Harbor Rocket quintet. The score was 47 to 46, the Little Giants blowing a comfortable 12-point margin which prevailed with the score 38-26 as the final period started.

Coach Dick Norman's boys play their second joust of the tourney trail tonight on their own court against Genoa at 8:30. It will be the second game on the card, Fostoria high's Redmen and the St. Joseph streaks opening the card at 7:15.

Genoa's Comets had a battle on their hands, but managed to pull away in winning their first round encounter from Lakota's young and diminutive Raiders, 61-51, this affray being the second on the card at Tiffin Friday night.

A small crowd witnessed the double bill, slippery roads and deep, wet snow keeping a lot of cage fans at home.

The Little Giants wrapped their ball game into two periods, the second and third. In the first and fourth sessions they played a poor game of give-away, every player in the starting lineup being tense, uncertain and slow. There was little drive, and very poor shooting.

In the opening period Ross had 17 cracks at the basket and netted only two of them. Time after time the Ross youths were open for good shots, but couldn't can them. The fourth period brought a repetition of the first, when eight shots were taken and only one was hooped.

But that fourth period bucket was a big one, John Prosser stealing the ball and dribbling in for a bunny to give Ross a 45-44 lead with only 1:17 to play. Half a minute later Buzz Baldwin of Oak Harbor fouled Russ Hagerty in an attempt to get the ball, the cool sophomore dropping in two free tosses to make it 47-44. Only five seconds remained when Jim Robertson took the inbound pass after Hagerty's last foul shot, and with Coach Norman and everyone on the bench yelling to the Ross boys to stay away from him, he dribbled the length of the floor to make it 47-46 as the buzzer sounded.

Oak Harbor, driving hard and confusing Ross with a press much of the time, built a 9-5 lead at the end of the first period, but in the second canto the Little Giants canned seven of 15 shots against Oak Harbor's one for eight, to gain a 22-17 halftime lead.

Pete Davis was assigned the job of playing Baldwin, the Oak Harbor great who was still a little weak from a session in the hospital with bronchitis, and he did a good job of it. Davis got into foul trouble, though, leaving the game via the thumb with 2:28 to go in the game.

In the third period Ross played even better ball, hitting seven of 15 shots, the same as in the second quarter, while holding Oak Harbor to three of 10. As the last period started Ross looked comfortably ahead, but lost its lead, with Oak Harbor cutting down the margin with a lot of foul conversions, and some neat shooting, hitting six from the field out of nine tries.

With three minutes to go Davis hit two free throws for Ross to grab a 43-40 edge. Then Jack Baumgartner broke through the Ross defense for a layup, and Barry Finken dribbled in for another bunny to take a 44-43 edge.

It was then that Prosser canned the only Ross bucket of the period, and Hagerty hit his charities.

Prosser left the game in the first minute of the second quarter with an ankle sprain. He had just dropped two fine shots from the outside to give Ross a 10-10 tie when he fell on the court. His ankle was taped but he did not go back into the game until there was 6:40 to go in the last period.

Davis paced the Little Giants with 12 points, while Ron Geller and Baldwin were tops score-wise for the Rockets, the former with two buckets and 12 charities for 16. Baldwin hitting five and five for 15.

The Genoa-Lakota tilt was a see-saw scrap after the Raiders were able to get started, but the Comets of Jim Luallen had too many guns. They had height, and speed, and a lot of fight, but Lakota had speed, too, and determination. The Raiders out-rebounded Genoa 30 to 25.

Luallen got an excellent game out of rugged Elmer Fredrickson who hit 21 points, and a fine one particularly defensively from Lyle Sieving. Dix Martin, the Genoa threat from way out, came through at times with sweet shots, but was well covered much of the time by Bill Zimmerman.

Coach Max Chapman of Lakota has only two seniors on his first string, Gary Snyder, who kept pegging away for 20 points, and Dale Stewart.

Genoa held a 13-10 edge at the quarter, and was ahead only 30-29 at halftime. As the final period started Genoa had a two-point margin, 47-45.

But in the final period superior height and experience played big parts, the Genoa lads pulling away as the game ended.

Since there is 'no tomorrow' in cage tourney play, Oak Harbor and Lakota hang up their togs, the former with a 9-7 season's mark and the latter with 2 and 17.

Ross takes a 7-13 record into the game tonight against Genoa's 7-10.

Sandusky Moves Along; Tiffin Wins

Sandusky blasted Vermilion 54-32 Friday night on its own court in the opening round of the Sandusky "AA" basketball sectional. Tiffin Columbian bounced Perkins 63-43 and Norwalk edged New London 75-69 in overtime.

Willard, which drew a bye, will play Columbian tonight at 9 as Sandusky and the Blue streaks tangle with Norwalk at 7.

Stew Williams' 19 points and Don Rather's 17 paced Sandusky to its 12th victory of the season. Vermilion made only seven field goals.

GIANTS PREP FOR ST. FRANCIS:

Hyzer Out For Season, Prosser Back, Coach Ill

A practice session injury ended the high school basketball career of Ross' Guard Alex Hyzer.

Hyzer twisted his knee Monday afternoon during practice and now is on crutches. Earlier this season he was out a week or two with a sprained ankle.

Sickness also has taken its toll as the Little Giants prepare to meet Toledo St. Francis Friday night in Bowling Green in the windup of "AA" sectional tournament play. Coach Dick Norman missed Monday and Tuesday workouts because of the flu and Guard Bill Feagins was absent Tuesday.

One bright spot amid the unhappy news was the return to practice of Forward John Prosser, who missed Saturday's game with Genoa because of a bone chip in the right ankle. The injury is mending quickly and barring further agitation of the ankle Prosser should be ready by Friday.

Tip off time against the Knights of St. Francis is 9 p.m.

Hyzer has been one of four guards Norman has alternated during the second half of the 1962-63 season. Others are Feagins, Dick Hufford and Russ Hagerty. A healthy Feagins, Hufford or Hagerty would probably form Ross' starting backline. Prosser, Jim (Pete) Davis and Frank Moore likely would work up front.

Taking over practice while Norman is recovering (Norman indicated Tuesday he would try to be back Wednesday afternoon) is Assistant Don Purvis.

Purvis had a 'chalk talk' Tuesday afternoon with the team, going over the strength of St. Francis.

According to the word of area coaches who have played St. Francis, the Knights have a tremendous fast break and rely heavily on offensive spark from their guards, Joe Gorski and Mark Paluszak, both about 5-8. Gorski is smart, an excellent shooter and leads the fast break. He scored 22 points against tough Toledo Woodward but was shut out against Toledo Rogers last week when the Knights earned their tourney berth, 36-33, in overtime.

Paluszak is the best ball handler and top dribbler on the club. He has an effective two-hand set shot.

Boys up front for St. Francis are tall. They are 6-4 center Chuck Strezenski, 6-2 Forward Phil Provo and 6-1 Forward Frank Maher, who also has been alternating with Greg (6-2) Merritt.

John Titsworth, who handles Ross' athletic business, said the tournament has been drawn through the district, and that should Ross win Friday night it would meet the winner of the Toledo Woodward - Toledo Waite game the following week in Toledo. Fostoria, which plays Toledo Libbey at 7 Friday, would have to win in order to set up a game with the winner of the Toledo Central-Toledo Macomber game.

Titsworth indicated that next year the entire tournament, from sectional through to state, may be mapped out in advance.

Tebbetts Names Starting Lineup For Saturday

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — There may be some significance in Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts' selection of a starting lineup to face the San Francisco Giants here Saturday in the first exhibition game of the year.

After the second straight four-hour workout Tuesday, Tebbetts picked this lineup:

Woodie Held 3b, rookie Tony Martinez ss, Tito Francona, lf, Fred Whitfield 1b, John Romano c, Rookie Vi Davalillo cf, Walter Bond rf, Jerry Kendall 2b, and pitcher Jim (Mudcat) Grant.

With the exception of Joe Adcock at first base and either Al Luplow or Willie Kirkland in right field, that may be the nine men who will face the Minnesota Twins on opening day April 9.

City Schedule

Final round of the City "B" League will be played Thursday night at the Junior high. Games are make up of the December 13 schedule.

Gun Store plays Crown Rubber at 6:30 p.m., O'Brien Realty meets Lindsey Elevator at 7:45 and Elmore Elevator tangles with Riverside Dairy at 9.

Riverside Dairy is first round champion. Should Gun Store win its game Thursday, then a playoff would begin on Thursday, March 14, between Riverside and Gun Store for the City "B" championship.

Pont To Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale chose 35-year-old John Pont of Miami (Ohio) University today as its head football coach after a five week's search. He succeeds Jordan Olivari. He was the unanimous choice, said Athletic Director DeLaney Kiputh.

Pont, a star halfback at Miami, served his alma mater as head football coach for seven years. His teams compiled a 43-21-2 record. The Redskins finished third in the Mid-American conference last season and their 8-1-1 over-all record included a 10-7 triumph over Purdue, a Big Ten opponent.

Prosser's Only Basket Gives Fremont 44 To 43 Victory Over St. Francis

By RAY HERBART

John Prosser, held out about half of the game in his first start after suffering an ankle injury two weeks ago, scored his only basket of the contest Friday night at Bowling Green State University, but it was a big one.

Prosser's rebound shot of a missed free throw by Captain Eric Moore with only 40 seconds to play gave Fremont Ross a thrilling 44-43 victory over Toledo St. Francis in the wrap up of the "AA" sectional basketball tournament.

Ross now goes to the Toledo district tournament for the second consecutive year and will play Toledo Woodward next Friday night at the Toledo fieldhouse. Woodward downed Toledo Waite 59-40 in the Toledo Sectional Friday.

Captain Dick Norman of Fremont, who had been drawing a Sunday, is Toledo to determine the time the Little Giants play Friday night. Also part of the team is Captain Central takes on Fremont next Friday as a result of both team's victories in sectional play.

Captain Tom Macomb of Toledo Macomb 60-36, Friday and Festus outscored Toledo Libby, 35-44.

Ross (9-12) overcame a cold shooting first half to beat Little Giants who trailed 28-3 in the second quarter. Ross went until the 25th marker of the first period to score his first basket of the game.

The Knights put their team ahead 14-6, tallied two baskets in the first second.

Captain Dick Speller shared scoring honors for Ray Burton's Stockaders with 11 each. Amlia hit 13 for Mohawk.

After a 13-13 first stanza tie, Mohawk jumped out 21-13 lead.

Both teams had 10 foul shots apiece in the first three quarters.
