First BCC swim meet may be Ross-Findlay duel

It's the first Buckeye Central Conference swim meet but it may as well be called Mystery Meet 1988.

The two-day event begins with diving at 5 p.m., Friday, in Fink Natatorium on the Findlay College Campus. Swimming begins at 9:30 a.m., Saturday.

Ross head swim coach Tom Thomson and assistant Cindi Koontz are in the same boat when trying to give a preview of the BCC gathering.

"I know very little about the southern teams," Thomson said.

"The only thing I know is that Rock

Snow (Findlay coach and meet director) told me that the other teams have very little."

That, basically, equates to a dual meet between the Findlay and Ross boys and girls teams with Lancaster, Newark and Zanesville providing the extras.

"That's what it looks like ... Findlay against Ross," Thomson said.

The Ross trams have split 10 meets with Findlay providing a couple of the minuses. The Trojan boys won 84-68 and the Findlay girls prevailed 112-60.

The Ross boys diving duo has a shot at a 1-2 finish with sophomore B.J. Blair and junior Chad Root providing that strength. Michelle Velliquette has a shot a placing well up front for the girls.

In the boys swimming, the Aqua Giants have good shots at placing in most of the swimming events but the best bets are in the 50, 100 and 200 freestyles, backstroke, individual medley and the breaststroke.

Steve Schaaf and Jason Sprenger provide Ross 50 free strength with Steve Schaaf and Harry Sergeant carrying the 100 free hopes. Brian Schaaf and Chase Baker should score points in the 200 free.

Rob Penrod is rated one of the top swimmers in the backstroke and the IM. Rob Schaaf and Wilson Abdo carry the Aqua Giants hopes in the breaststroke.

"The medley relay and freestyle relays are shootouts," Thomson said. "The meet could come down to the free relay (the final event)."

For the girls, the best bets at good finishes are in the freestyle events along with the backstroke.

Todd Heslet is rated one of the best in the 200 free and the backstroke.

Leah Baker and Tina Streeter figure to score points in the 50 and 100 free sprints. Natalie Albert is also given a shot at finishing well in the 50. Jamie Brudzinski could give Ross points in the 200 and 500 freestyles.
