

1956 District meet...

Ross Swim Team Set For Columbus

Following a proposal that has been brewing in the northwest district of Ohio for the past several years, Coach George Gruse, Ross high school swimming coach, said that district finals will be held this year in Columbus instead of Bowling Green, where they have been held for many years.

Wednesday at 2 p. m. the Ross team, comprised of 19 swimmers, will be in Columbus shooting for places in the state meet, also at the Ohio State University pool, scheduled for March 2-3.

Gruse said that in the past years, Ross and Sandusky have emerged the powerhouse representatives of the Bowling Green district, thus were able to send a considerable number of entrants for each event at the state finals.

In addition to the quality of the teams, there was also the factor of the dearth of representation from other schools in the northwest area. Many schools do not have swimming teams.

Four boys may be entered in each event at the district meet with the first six swimmers and divers qualifying for the state event.
