Ross girls rally for Relays title

Mistake in 800 relay costs Little Giants the boys team crown

The pieces fell into the right places in the final two events for the Ross girls, but a snafu cost the boys in the 26th Fremont Relays Saturday at the Ross High School track.

The Ross girls won the meet after wiping out a slim Bowling Green lead with two events remaining. The Little Giants finished with 81 points to Bowling Green's 74.

Third went to Marion Harding at 71 while Toledo Start finished fourth with 61.

In the boys division, Bowling Green won with 74, six better than Ross. Third was Toledo Start with 55 in the closely contested meet. Harding finished fourth with 53, Columbian fifth at 51 and Port Clinton sixth with 48.

Pam Pitts, shaking off the effects of knee injuries earlier in the meet, spurred the Ross girls to the win.

"When she came back and got second for us in the 800, that was a big event for us," Ross Coach Harold Zienta pointed out about Pitts after she was edged while running the 800 anchor leg. "She ran well in spite of the injury."

Pitts will be sore, but should not miss any action, Zienta said.

Going into the 800, Ross trailed Bowling Green 66-65 but picked up eight points for second as the Bobcats could do no better than sixth. Start set a record in the 800 with a 1:47 to edge Ross by a half-second.

The Little Giants locked up the meet time in the final event, winning the 1600 relay in 4:14.2. That quartet was made up of Shelly Hines, Jennifer Rollins, Missy Provard and Shannon Carter.

In other events, Ross accounted for a pair of records. The team of Rollins, Jenny Zienta, Tammy Schlets and Carter ran a 1:07.3 to set a new shuttle hurdles mark. Jessica Jefferson, Provard, Pitts and Carter knocked nearly four seconds off the sprint medley record, winning in 1:51.3.

Zienta also praised the efforts of Jefferson and Provard, who along with Pitts, came back to perform in back-to-back events: the 400 relay and the sprint medley. Ross was second in the 400.

Ross also tied for first with Marion Harding in the high jump. That team was made up of Natalie Albert, Pitts and Heather Fought.

While the Ross girls coach was smiling, boys coach Norm Bray had a pained expression on his face.

"I felt we should have won it," he said.

A costly mistake in the 800 wiped out the Little Giants' chances.

HEATHER FOUGHT of Ross glances down at the bar while on her way up during the high jump event Saturday. Fought cleared the bar and helped her team tie for first.

On the first leg of the event, Ross failed to pass the baton and did not finish the event.

"We just did not hand off," Bray said. "It was our own mistake and that cost us. We just did not finish up."

"But you cannot say we lost the meet in that one event," he said, "because there were a few other events where we did not perform well."

One was the sprint medley in which Ross got just two points for a fifth-place finish.

"I thought we would have at least placed second," Bray said.

The Ross boys took first in the 3200 relay with the team of Brian Doty, Scott Nossaman, Kevin McDonald and Pat Hetrick running an 8:21, the 400 meter team of Trent Brown, Scott Provard, Kevin Crawford and Kevin Hively winning in 44.5 and the 1600 quartet of Hively, Doty, Crawford and Hetrick posted a 3:31.06.

The high jump team, with Dave Kovaleski clearing 6-6, won with a combined effort of 17-9. Crawford and Troy Druckenmiller teamed up with Kovaleski.

The Thurston-Zwir Post of the American Legion co-sponsored the event.
