

Ross wants to settle in

By TIM HARMON
Staff writer

Fremont Ross baseball coach Dan Fought says he answered some questions about the 1994 Little Giants during Wednesday's scrimmage at Clyde.

He hopes to keep answering them in scrimmages Saturday at Sylvania Southview, Tuesday at Genoa and next Thursday at Toledo Central Catholic.

"There are so many question marks to be answered," Fought said. "This team has to come together quickly."

Ross opens the season April 4 at Tiffin Columbian and plays Great Lake League power Toledo Whitmer at home the next day.

The team's strength — pitching — is ironically what could inhibit a group of versatile players from filling their collective roles.

"We have a rotation problem," Fought said. "When someone is pitching we have to make defensive adjustments. If (Gary) Rakes or (Shane) Moran or (Kyle) Kusmer pitches, it creates a lot of movement.

"A lack of depth doesn't concern me, but the lack of experience in the middle does."

Sophomore Bucky Byers is the Ross catcher, with first-year varsity players Rakes and Tim Rakes playing a lot at second base or shortstop.

Kusmer, who played first base last year as a sophomore and might be needed at third, could also be the answer at short or second.

Ryan Smith (.328, 16 RBI), the top offensive threat on the team along with designated hitter Tyler Tooman, plays center field when he's not pitching. Fought says junior Brian Reinbolt is a capable back-up in center.

Reinbolt could also play left field, as could Moran, Ryan Wagner or Kris Kayden. Jeremy Aldrich is the right fielder.

"I'd love to have a set shortstop...the same for a center fielder because communication is so important," Fought said. "But I like the versatility."

Aaron Smith (4-7, 3.58 ERA), Ryan Smith (4-3, 3.27) and left-hander Kris Kayden (a transfer from Fremont St. Joseph Central Catholic) will start the bulk of the games. Moran (2-0, 4 saves) is the primary reliever.

"It's a nice staff to work with because they throw strikes," Fought said. "But they're not strikeout pitchers so we have to play defense behind them."
