ROSS

Despite losing two of the top five runners from the 1994 state runner-up team, coach John Elder would like to bring home a state title in 1995.

"Last year was such a great, fun ride," said Elder, who begins his eighth season. "This year we want to return to Columbus and improve."

Gone are co-captains Dane Snyder and Doug Jibilian, who were the Little Giants' third and fourth runners respectively.

Returning are four of the top five runners, with a pair of Jeremiahs leading the charge. All-state performers Jeremiah Wagner, a senior, and junior Jeremiah Smith return as well as senior Clint Hill, who ran fifth a year ago.

Kurt Snyder is another returning letterman.

"If we stay healthy and continue our commitment to improve, this could very well be another great year," Elder said.

ROSS

All eyes are on sophomore Jami Toeppe, who finished second at the state meet last season, but the Little Giants' top runner has a strong backing.

Cathy Mallia, in her fourth year as head coach, has experience to go along with Toeppe. Alison Kelley, Sarah Williams, Kristyn Warner, Molly O'Conner and Monica Wood give the Little Giants the depth needed to repeat as Great Lakes League champions.

"The team is comprised of young runners with a lot of experience," Mallia said. "We have the talent we need to make it to state."

The Fremont Ross boys and girls survived the course and the elements to win team titles in the second Norm Bray Memorial Invitational Cross Country Meet Saturday at Walsh Park.

The meet, named in honor of the former Ross and St. Joe coach, is hosted by Ross and St. Joseph Central Catholic high schools.

"The course is very demanding," St. Joe coach Gary Logsdon said. "You don't go for personal best times at Walsh Trails."

Especially given Saturday's cold, wet and windy conditions.

Jami Toeppe's winning time of 20 minutes, 25 seconds and Lindsay Frantz's runner-up finish at 21:14 were nowhere close to personal bests, but they were more than good enough to lead the Ross girls to the team title with 31 points. Napoleon was second with 54, Toledo St. Ursula third with 77 and Maumee fourth with 130. St. Joe was seventh in the nine-team field with 148.

hard," Ross coach Cathy Mallia said, "but I also wanted them to make sure they had solid footing. If they stay aware of their surroundings, I knew they would do well."

Logsdon was hoping for a better finish.

"The girls did not run well today," he said. "They looked terrible. You've got to run in any conditions ... that's cross country."
