Little Giants looking to surprise in 1993

A nucleus of five returning letterwinners will anchor the Fremont Ross girls cross country team.

Second-year coach Cathy Mallia is coming off a 2-4 dual record in 1992. The nucleus, though, has her thinking of a loftier goal this season.

"I feel with the experience of many runners and the strength of the leaders, there may be some great surprises," said Mallia, a former runner at Ross. "The major goal for the team is to win the league (Great Lakes League) title."

Heather Mears — a senior who spent her junior year on the injured list — along with junior Carey Gill — a second-team GLL performer in 1992 — lead the let-terwinners.

Transfer Grace Durnell, from Merced, Calif., and Sara Williams are expected to bolster the experienced Ross runners.

Williams, a tennis player last fall, was a regional qualifier in the 800-meter run in the spring track season.

"We have girls with much of the same abilities," Mallia said. "They will be capable of packing well to score points.

"One problem we may have is between the leaders and the rest."

Mallia's girls open the season on the Little Giants' new course at Walsh Park, located just past the Camelback Bridge on Morrison St. The meet against Fostori and Oregon Clay begins at 4:15 p.m.

Experience key for Ross boys

There are few seniors, but the lettermen are in place for coach John Elder's Fremont Ross boys cross country team.

"Our team should have the experience," Elder said, "because our top five runners are back."

That quintet includes most valuable runner Dane Snyder, a junior who qualified for the regional meet last season.

Sophomore Jeremiah Wagner, the Little Giants' number two runner a season ago, leads the remaining returning lettermen. Wagner was a regional qualifier in the 3200-meter run during the spring track season.

The top newcomer is the team's only freshman, Kurt Snyder.

"We should be better," Elder said. Last season, the Little Giants were 1-6 in the Great Lakes League and 43-46 including invitationals.

"We had a good preseason," the Ross coach said, "and we are looking for a much better season. We definitely want to improve on our league record and get some kids to the state meet."

Elder said his team does lack depth and can't afford any injuries.

The Little Giants open the season at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday against Fostoria and Oregon Clay on the Lost Trails Course at Walsh Park.

Toledo Whitmer took first in the team standings, with 60 points. Findlay was second with 66 and the Little Giants had 85.
