

1986 Season Review...

Ross track teams to open Tuesday

By BOB MARKER

Reporting for The News-Messenger

Norm Bray is thinking about an ad campaign and Harold Zienta is looking for one of his team's better seasons as Ross prepares to open the track season.

Tiffin Columbian's teams will be in Fremont to take on the Little Giants Tuesday at 4:15 p.m.

"How about a little advertising," Bray, the boys coach chuckled. "I need hurdlers."

You get the impression that is about all Bray's team needs.

"We have a good team coming back," the ever-optimistic Bray said. "If everything goes right (no injuries and his athletes remain academically eligible), we should be good."

That summation may not mean an ultra-successful dual meet season Bray said.

"I have 52 kids out and I will let them run in the dual meets," he explained. "We have changed our philosophy a little and instead of emphasizing dual meets, we will be gearing ourselves toward winning the medals in big meets."

Fifteen athletes who lettered in either track or cross country form the foundation of Bray's team. He predicts the team's strengths to be in the 400, 800 and 3200 runs along with the 3200 relay and the high jump. The reigning Buckeye Conference champ in the 3200, Brian Doty, is back for the Little Giants. John Brown, seventh in the conference cross country meet last fall, is another strong contender for the Little Giants from the 800 on up through the 3200.

A pair of runner-up performers in the BC are high jumper Dave Kovaleski and 400-meter dash man Kevin Hively. Pat Hetrick, Hively and Doty return to the 3200 relay team, which finished second in the conference meet.

Steve Letzring, one hurdler that Bray does have, is the defending conference high hurdles king. He also finished sixth in the 300 low hurdles.

Anchoring the sprinters will be Trent Brown and Scott Provard. The latter was fifth in the BC 100-meter dash in '85.

In field events, pole vaulter Jim Carroll, fourth in the conference, is back, but generally Bray's field events squad will have to improve, he said.

Zienta has 12 letter winners returning to his girls team.

"I am looking for one of our better seasons," he predicted.

The strength of the team, Zienta said, is the sprints with the distance runners vastly improved. "We have much more depth this season," he explained, "and we should be more balanced."

Pam Pitts, Missy Provard, Shannon Carter and Jennifer Rollins anchor Zienta's sprinters. Pitts is the lone senior in the group, Provard is a junior and the others are sophomores.

Junior Tammy Schiets, Carter, Rollins, and Jenny Zienta, another sophomore letter winner, will be the hurdlers.

Shelly Hines, a returning junior, is one of the leading middle distance (400 and 800) runners for Zienta while another junior letter winner, Nicki Buehler, will be handling the distance races along with Cathy Mallia.

"Mallia has another year of experience," the Ross coach said, "and Tammy Stanley, a sophomore, has shown that she will be a good distance runner."

In the field events, Minerva Nevarez, a senior, is back to lead the weight event performers. Regina Johnston, who lettered as sophomore but did not come out for the team her junior year, is back to compete with Nevarez in the shot put and the discus.

Heather Fought, junior, is back to compete in the high jump.

Ross splits chilly tri-meet

News-Messenger Reports

Mother Nature may have been the big winner Tuesday, wiping out four area high school track and field meets.

Four other meets were run, but under severe conditions. All were hampered by the cold and in most meets, times and distances reflected those chilly surroundings.

At Marion, the Ross boys team split a double dual-scored triangular meet, defeating Harding 68-65 but losing to Lexington 73-59. In other boys meets, Margaretta slipped past Huron 67-65, Eastwood got past Genoa 75-62 and Port Clinton and St. Mary's both had 80½ points in a triangular at Port Clinton. St. Joe finished on the bottom in that meet with four points.

"It was snowing and sleeting,"

Ross Coach Norm Bray described the weather that greeted his team on its arrival in Marion.

Scott Provard was a double winner for the Little Giants in the triangular, taking the 100 and 200 dashes and also running on Ross's winning 400 meter relay team with Luther McKinstry, Kevin Crawford and Kevin Hively.

Dave Kovaleski was the only other individual winner for the Little Giants, clearing 6-0 in the high jump.

At Port Clinton, St. Joe's best finish was a third in the pole vault by Brian Streacker.

Port Clinton got first-place performances from Brian Watt in the discus, Dave Dalrymple in the shot put, high jumper Mark Maloy and pole vaulter Homer

Boys track

DeLeon.

In the running events, the Redskins picked up firsts from Lorne Searight in the high and low hurdles hurdles, Tom Weldon in the 400 dash and the 1600 relay team of Steve Nissen, Weldon, Todd Fehnrich and Dave Libben.

At Castalia, Margaretta's close win was highlighted by the 150-foot, 1½-inch winning effort in the discus by Keith Brummitt. It was the first win in four dual meets for the Polar Bears.

Margaretta got firsts from distance runner Jason Hand in the 1600 and 3200 meter runs, James Tyree in the long jump, pole vaulter Bobby Stimmel, Brian Miller in the high hurdles, Ron Link in the 200, plus the 400 and 1600 relay teams. Brian Miller, Mark Troike, Tyree and Link made up the 400 team with Miller, Mike Friend, Tyree and Link running on the 1600 squad.

Dave Andrews won three events and placed second in another to lead Eastwood's win over Genoa. Andrews won the shot put, 100 and 200 meter dashes and was second in the discus.

Genoa got first places from Mark Whittaker in the discus, Mike Weddle in the pole vault and the 3200 and 400 meter relays teams. # Pitts, Kovaleski shatter records at Krause meet

News-Messenger Reports

TIFFIN — Pam Pitts tied a record and shattered another to lead the Fremont Ross girls to a fourth-place finish in the Bill Krause Relays Saturday.

The Ross girls racked up 54 points while winner Ashland had 111 and runner-up Sandusky Perkins 68. Toledo Whitmer was third with 54.

In the boys division, Dave Kovaleski of Ross set a new school mark in the high jump as Ross finished eighth in the 16-team field.

Pitts won two events: the 100 and 200 meter dashes. In the century dash, she tied the meet record with a 12.5 effort. She came back in the 200 to win in 26.6 seconds, a half second ahead of the second-place runner. Pitts set the meet record — 25.8 — for the distance in the preliminaries.

Ross also got a first-place effort from Shannon Carter in the 400 with a 1:01.4. Carter added a second in the 100-meter hurdles with a 15.2 clocking.

The Little Giants' 400 relay team of Jennifer Rollins, Jessica Jefferson, Missy Provard and Pitts finished third in 52.1. The team of Carter, Rollins, Provard and Shelly Hines finished fourth in the 1600 in 4:16.0, with the 800 team of Rollins, Heather Toeppe, Provard and Carter taking fifth in 1:52.3.

Ross's only top five placing in the field events was in the high jump. The team of Heather Fought, Pitts and Natalie Albert tied the Tiffin Columbian team for third with a combined height of 14-2.

Kovaleski, who held the previous Ross high jump mark of 6-7 set last year, added an inch to that while taking the individual first in the event. He combined with Steve Letzring and Kevin Crawford to lead the Ross trio to a first-place tie with Perkins with both teams clearing 18 feet.

Ross picked up another first in the "weight men" 400 meter relay. The squad of Terry Hall, Jeff Draeger, Antonio DuPont and Cardell Beachum ran the distance in 49.6.

Letzring also placed third in the 110 meter high hurdles, clocking in at 15.4. The 400 meter relay team of Trent Brown, Luther McKinstry, Crawford and Scott Provard was third in 45.7.

The Ross boys and girls will host Findlay Tuesday at the Ross track. The first event is slated to begin at 4 p.m.

PAM PITTS is ready to take off to the Fiji Islands.

Ross track ace Pitts hopes to compete internationally

She needs financial help to make trip to Fiji Islands this summer

By BOB MARKER
Staff writer

Hopefully, Pam Pitts will get by with a little help from her friends.

Pitts, a Ross High School senior track star, will become a jetsetter this summer as she represents Fremont and Ohio in international track. She is one of 30 girls to be invited to join the Ohio team for a series of track and field meets involving teams from around the world in the Fiji Islands June 27-July 10. The meets are part of the International Sports Exchange program.

Dave Kovaleski, another Ross senior, was selected for the boys team but declined the opportunity.

The Fiji Islands are located east of Australia near the Samoa Islands.

"I know they are south of Hawaii," the outgoing Pitts laughed, "and I know they are beautiful. The water and animals are beautiful — I love animals — it looks like paradise."

All that from brochures on the group of 322 islands.

Along the way, she will have touched down in California and Hawaii. Not bad for a kid whose longest trip is to Florida each summer. That is not counting the trip from Colorado, where she was born 18 years ago, to Fremont at the tender age of four months.

The daughter of Melanie and Roger Pitts, 522 Bidwell, said the selection to the team was a shocking experience.

"They notified me at the end of March," she recalled. "I had no idea I was being considered for it."

According to the Ross sprinter, Zanesville Coach Wayne Clark liked her style at the state track meet last spring and that prompted her selection. She will be running the short sprints and relays for the Ohio team.

Pitts is hoping that the Fiji Islands venture is the first of many for her after her high school running career. She will enter the United States Navy officer training program in been in there."

This past Saturday, at another Buckeye Conference meet, she was again forced to sit out while resting another injury.

"That was hard," she said. "I wanted to be in there so bad. It was so hard on me. I wish I had stayed home."

But, as Zienta pointed out, she helped talk her teammates into a runner-up finish.

Friends are numerous for Pitts, but she does have one very special friend, one that she covets more than the rest, and he will be making the trip to the Fiji Islands with her.

No, it's not her Dad.

"No, I am probably the only girl in the world with a 'My Buddy' doll," she laughed. "That was made for boys, but I did not like the 'My Sister' doll. 'My Buddy' is my good luck piece; he goes wherever I go."

She is being sponsored by the Fremont chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, but she could use some more help from her other friends. Pitts needs to raise approximately $1,795 for the trip and she admits that she is far short of that goal.

Individuals and businesses may help her represent Fremont internationally by sending donations to either Security Savings, P.O. Box 85, Fremont, or to Norm Bray, 215 S. Collinwood, Fremont, 43420.

Pitts, now recovered from the leg injury, and her Ross teammates will be competing today in the Class AAA district meet at Ross High School. The pole vault begins today at 3:30 with the running event preliminaries at 4:30. The remainder of the field events and the running event finals begin at 10 a.m., Saturday.

September. According to her, she will be able to compete in track during her stint in the Navy.

Pitts, who was nominated by her classmates as the "silliest female" at Ross, agrees with that description and adds that she gets along with everyone.

Another description of her is that of a leader and a competitor, according to Ross Coach Harold Zienta.

"She has been the girls' captain the last two years," he pointed out, "and she really gets the girls up. I remember when she was a sophomore at the Buckeye Conference meet, she had a pulled muscle in her leg but she got into the 200 and qualified for the finals. But she pulled the muscle again at the end of the preliminary."

"She had to sit out the final and I remember seeing her sitting in the stands, tears running down her face; I know if she could have, she would have

Shelly Leggett and Dave Kovaleski were named Ross High School's outstanding senior athletes during the spring sports award program Tuesday evening.

In addition to those honors, Pat Hetrick won the Ken Svanoe Award and six athletes were named most valuable performers in the five spring sports.

Leggett and Kovaleski were three-sport stars at Ross. Kovaleski's award is called the Baron-Sherman Award, the 20th year for the honor.

Hetrick's award carries a $500 scholarship and is sponsored by the Ross Booster Club. It is in honor of Ken Svanoe, a 1963 graduate of Ross who died in the Vietnam war.

John Stierwalt was named the MVP for the baseball team and also won the trophy for the top batting average. Coach Dan Fought also handed the most improved player honor to Gregg Gallagher and the best defensive player trophy to Scott Weber. Weber also took home a captain's trophy. The coaches award went to Mike Zelms.

Taunya Downing was named the softball team's most valuable player. She, along with Lora Almaguer and Leggett, received captain's trophies from Coach Christy Holland. Other softball awards went to Aimee LeJeune as the best defensive player and Almaguer as the top offensive player.

Holland announced that junior Angie Flores was named to the Northwest Ohio District first team and will play in an all-star game in Findlay on June 10. Downing was a second team selection with LeJeune, Leggett and Almaguer receiving honorable mention.

Scott Provard won the MVP honor for boys track to go along with the most valuable runner award. Coach Norm Bray awarded the most valuable field events trophy to Kovaleski, while Hetrick, Kevin Hively and Kovaleski received captain's trophies.

In girls track, Pam Pitts won the most valuable award. The most valuable runner honor went to Shannon Carter, and Minerva Nevarez won the most valuable field events performer trophy. Tami Stanley was named the most valuable first year performer by Coach Harold Zienta.

Ross's runner-up second court doubles team members, Kevin Brooks and John Cahill, shared the most valuable player award for the boys tennis team. Ross assistant athletic director Gary Nossman, taking over for Coach Pete Michaels who could not attend because of prior commitments, presented the awards. Cahill also won the most improved player trophy and John Battles and Ramon Eickert took home captain's trophies.
