Boys team earns tie with GLL rival

By MICHAEL PIDANICK
Staff writer

Fremont Ross appears to have a solid chance at finishing near the top at the Great Lakes League tournament, which is just two weeks away.

The Little Giants' girls won easily and the boys team earned a tie in a home meet with GLL rival Sandusky Tuesday.

Several Ross athletes appear to be peaking at the right time.

"This was a pretty good meet for us," said Ross coach John Elder. "Our first goal is to win the GLL Tournament (May 12 at Bedford, Mich.), and then we'll try to get as many athletes as far as we can."

The Ross girls easily defeated the shorthanded Blue Streaks 92-28. With tournament time looming, Sandusky held several of its girls out of the meet to avoid injuries, Elder said.

"This is not an indication of how good (the Blue Streaks) are," Elder said. "At the GLL, they could very well beat us or we could beat them again."

Freshman sprinter Fallon Bailey won the 200-meter dash in 28.5 seconds, .75 faster than teammate Gayle McFadden, and also ran on the Little Giants' 400 and 800 relays, both of which took first.

"We did pretty well today," Bailey said. "It would have been better if Sandusky had all of their girls."

Senior Michelle Salas won the discus with a throw of 119 feet and the shot put with a 40-

51' throw. She averages around 123 in the shot put.

Christy Linder won the long jump in 14-8, Jami Toeppe won the 1600 in 5:44, freshman Jessica Mason won the 300 hurdles in 52.7, Allison Kelly won the 3200 in 12:42.7 and the Little Giants' 1600 relay won in 4:40 while the 3200 relay squad won in 10:22.

"Our girls distance runners are starting to run real well," Elder said.

In the boys competition, the Blue Streaks earned the tie with a victory in the 1600 relay race in 3:48 to close out the meet.

Elder said the outcomes of the individual meets aren't as important as how the individual athletes are progressing.

Officials: Track is deteriorating

By BRIAN SPIESS
Sports editor

School officials have postponed the 38th Annual Fremont Ross Track Invitational for at least a year, saying the North Street running track has deteriorated and is not safe.

But those same officials — principal Joe Johnson, athletic director Art Bucci and track coach John Elder — allowed competitors from Ross and Sandusky to run on the track in Tuesday's dual meet.

The junior high team will use the track tonight for its last dual meet.

"To be honest we are concerned about liability and there is less liability in a dual meet because there are less teams and less participants," Johnson said Tuesday afternoon, just before the team's final home meet.

"We've got our fingers crossed."

The surface of the all-weather track has been scraped off, meaning that competitors now run directly on the concrete base. This can lead to a variety of injuries, the school trainer said, from shin splints to soreness.

Elder said the track has been in bad shape for at least six years, but he realized during an April 21 home meet that it had become dangerous. He met with the athletic director and principal Friday and they decided to cancel the invitational.

On Monday Bucci sent a fax to participating schools St. Joseph Central Catholic, Clyde, Sandusky and Findlay that stated:

"Due to the condition of our track, we are postponing the 38th Annual Fremont Ross Track Invitational. With safety being our number one concern for the student athletes, the corresponding date for the relays will be Saturday, May 8th, 1999."

Elder and Bucci said there is no correlation between the timing of the announcement and Tuesday's vote on an income tax renewal for the school.

"It's not a scare tactic," Bucci said.

Elder said he did not recommend canceling Tuesday's meet because there was less time to do so and because it was one of only two home meets.

"Plus, we may not run the kids as much in a dual meet and it may not be as intense," Elder said. "In a Saturday meet the kids are more intense."

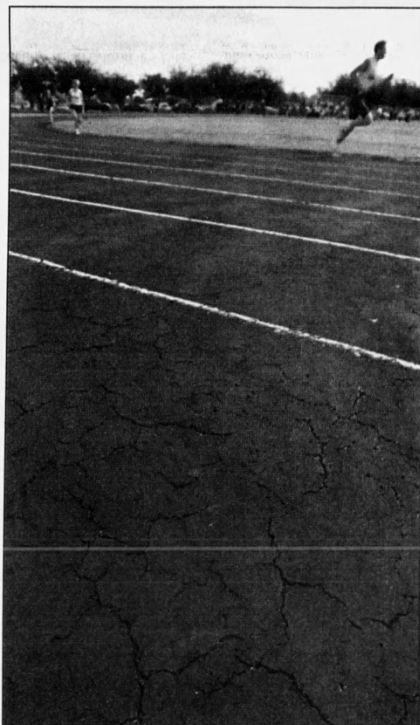

The invitational began in 1960 and has featured as many as 12 schools. Elder believes many of the schools dropped out over the years because of the track.

"It's not supposed to be this chewed up," Elder said, pointing to the track's north straightaway. "I think it's obvious that it is falling apart."

Some of the lane markings painted before the last resurfacing have begun to show through.

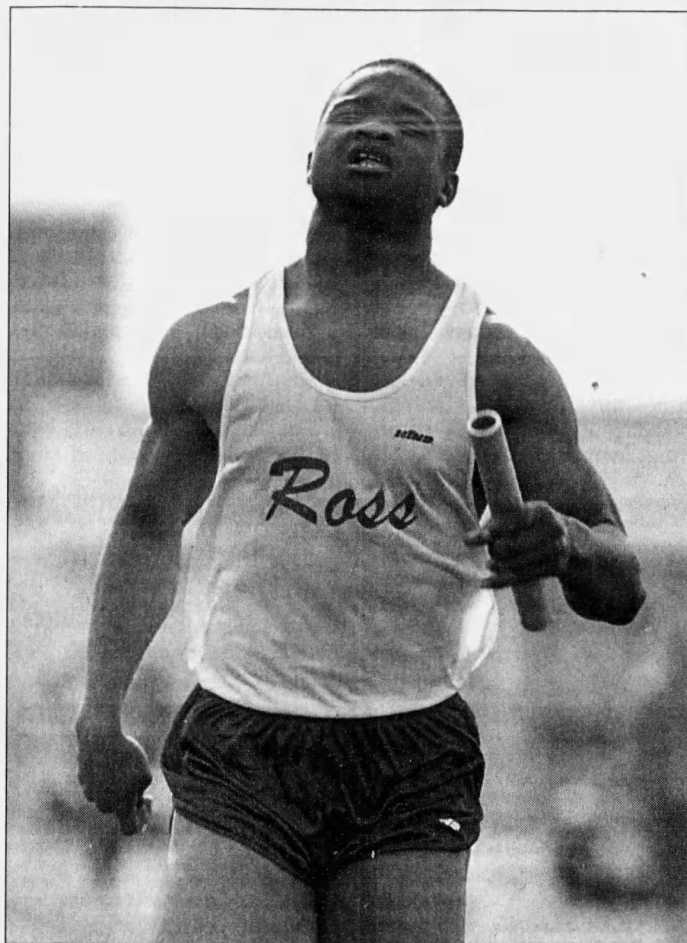

Johnson said money to fix the track would come from existing funds in the buildings and grounds budget. Those funds had been earmarked for improvements to Harmon Stadium.

Ross boys earn tie against rival Streaks

One of the Little Giants performing well is senior sprinter Kenny Morrisette. He won the 100 and 200 meter runs and anchored Ross's winning 400 relay team as the boys teams' tied at 66.

Morrisette won the 100 in 11 seconds and the 200 in 23 seconds. The 400 team won in 51.2. Morrisette and the 800 team finished second.

"I've been running consistent 11s (seconds)," Morrisette said. "I would like to get down to 10.7 or 10.8 for the tournaments."

Morrisette is optimistic about his relay teams as well.

"We are trying to get to the top," Morrisette said. "We're pretty doggone good in the 400 relay."

Ross's Demetrius Simms won the boys long jump with a distance of 20 feet, Rashad Brown took the high jump with a 6-2 and Josh Burris won the 3200 for the Little Giants with a time of 11:05. The Little Giants' 3200 relay team won in 43.8 seconds.

Elder said the Ross-Sandusky rivalry makes for a fun meet.

"It's a good competition," he said. "We like to compete against each other. In tournaments, we root for each other's kids to do well."

Ross closes gates on track

School practices
Monday afternoon

By MICHAEL PIDANICK

Fremont Ross's track is closed.

School officials decided at Monday's Board of Education meeting to chain up the North Street facility's gates because they said the surface of the 19-year-old track has deteriorated and is unsafe until repairs are made.

Ross decided April 24 to postpone the 38th Fremont Ross Invitational, but Monday's development means the track will not be used by high school athletes or taxpayers in the near future.

"It's kind of sad, but it's in the best interest of the kids," said Ross track and field coach John Elder. "As a Fremont person, it's sad to see the state of our facility."

Said Ross athletic director Art Bucci: "It's a shame that we have to do this. This isn't to punish the community. It's for the safety of the kids and for those who use it."

"The usefulness of our track is done."

No timetable has been set for repairs, but Bucci is hoping to have something done in the warm months.

"I would love to see it done this summer," said Bucci. "Once we get to the winter we can't do anything and then you get into spring."

The estimated cost of repair ranges from $50,000 to $70,000.

Repairs would include moving the pole vault and long jump areas outside the track itself, but still inside the fenced area, said Steve Goetz, supervisor of classified operations.

"When and how (it will be fixed) are two good questions," Bucci said. "We don't know. We will meet with the superintendent to see if funds can be allocated. But there is a lot of deterioration in (other school) buildings. ... The educational facilities come first."

Bucci and Elder agreed that getting funds from company sponsors is a viable option.

"It would be nice to get funds from other sources," Elder said. "The facility in Clyde was funded with community resources."

In the early 1990s Clyde solicited funds from the community to pay for its track at the Race Street high school. Fliers' athletic director Bob Bishop said the school's building funds were needed to pay for secondary items such as the fence.

"But basically it was raised by the community," Bishop said.

The Little Giants, who will compete at the regional meet Wednesday at Fostoria, are forced to find new practice facilities.

Ross traveled about 25 minutes to Margaretta High School on Monday afternoon to use the Polar Bears' facility. Elder said the athletes noticed the difference in the surfaces.

"The kids were saying, 'Wow this is so much better,' " he said. "But it's sort of an inconvenience. We get home later."

Bucci believes the team will suffer if the track cannot be open by next spring.

"If you don't have a home facility, then you have to practice on just the grass or travel elsewhere," he said. "And if you don't have a facility your numbers (of athletes) are going to dwindle."

The facility was well-used by the community.

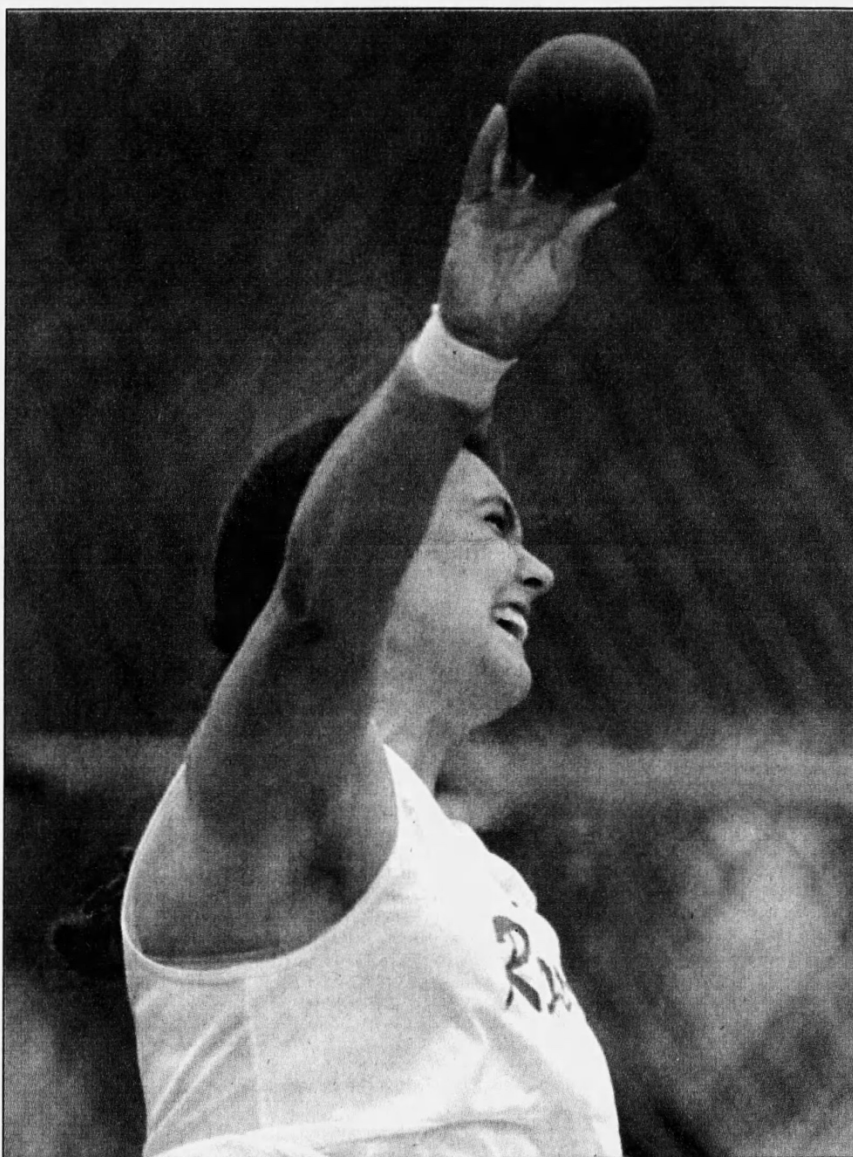

"When we got back from Margareta (Monday) there were about 20 people using it," said Elder, who was on the track team during the facility's first season in 1979. "When things get used that is going to happen."

YMCA Director Chuck Collins said the members who have used the Ross track to run will use city streets or the YMCA indoor walking and running track while the school's facility is repaired.

"If you're an avid runner, you're going to hunt a place to run," Collins said.

Salas tosses around records

Ross senior has 2 school marks

When a person has been at something as long as Fremont Ross senior Michelle Salas has been throwing shot and discus, success becomes habitual.

"When I go out there I try not to think about it," said Salas, who began throwing for the junior high team in seventh grade. "I try to make it second nature. I don't want to worry about it. I just do it."

For Salas, The News-Messenger's Athlete of the Week, breaking records has become second nature. She broke her own records in the shot put and the discus Wednesday in the Great Lakes League tournament at Sandusky High School.

"She is the best girl thrower in Fremont Ross history," said Ross head coach John Elder. "She has all the records to prove it."

In the GLL tournament, Salas won the shot with a throw of 41 feet, five inches, topping the mark of 41-3 she set April 25 at the Tiffin Columbian Invitational. As well as breaking her school mark in the shot, she also set a meet record in the discus with a 138-4. Her old mark of 130-6 was set April 18 at the Clyde Invitational.

Little Giants' field coach Joe Bajornas doesn't expect either record to stand very long.

"She still has the sectionals, the districts and hopefully the state (tournaments)," he said. "I think she'll be extending the records a little."

Last season, Salas qualified for the state tournament in both events, and placed sixth in the shot put.

"She needed her final throw to place and she came through," Bajornas recalled. "There is enormous pressure down there and she did it."

Her goal for this season is to place third in the shot and sixth in the discus at the state.

Bajornas is looking a little higher.

"I think she can place top three in both," he said. "I don't want to jinx her or anything, but she has been shooting for this since day one."

As a junior high athlete, Salas knew she had talent but she has surprised herself.

"I was always throwing farther than the other kids," she said. "But I never thought I would be throwing this far."

Salas said the secret to being a good thrower comes with hard work and practice.

"It (throwing) is all about form. The more you practice, the more you get down."

Elder said Salas has all the attributes of a great athlete.

"She is intelligent, she works hard, she sets goals and strives for them," he said. "Just like all great athletes do."

"She is a very coachable young lady."

Said Bajornas: "She's very explosive. She is a good athlete and she has good technique. When you mix athleticism and technique you get a successful athlete."

Bajornas, who is in his third season as field coach, said Salas has made a lot of improvement.

"She has always had the athletic ability, but as a sophomore she had a little trouble with her technique and her glide. But she has made great strides."

Salas is successful off the field too. She is an honor student and is involved with the school band and enjoys participating in science fairs. She also has three younger brothers and two younger sisters.

Next season, Salas will attend Kent State University, where she will throw shot and discus.

Bajornas expects success at that level.

No matter what she does she will be successful because she'll work hard to get it."
