Brandon Hoelzer led the Fremont Ross golf team with a 73 at the Swanton Bulldog Invitational at Valleywood Golf Course.

The Little Giants finished second with 310 to Anthony Wayne, which won the tournament with 298.

"Our young players stepped up and posted some good scores," said golf coach Nick Rider. "I believe that we are starting to come together as a team, and we are getting more confidence from all of our players, when it comes to their capabilities."

Alex Chudzinski shot 78 for Ross, followed by Ian Mowry's 79, Clay Schwartz's 80, Austin Darr's 81 and Dexter Foos's 82.

FREMONT — On a day when the weather was just about perfect for golf, with temperatures in the mid-70's and not very windy, the scores weren't what a lot of golfers at the Fremont Invitational were expecting.

There was a common sentiment echoed throughout Fremont Country Club: The course conditions were extremely tough.

"There's tough conditions out there," said Gibsonburg coach Tom Hiser. "The greens are lightning fast."

Mansfield Madison's first-year coach, Tammy Hammett said, "From what I understand, the greens are pretty tough."

The host Little Giants finished fourth out of 10 teams, led by freshman Brandon Hoelzer who carded an 83. Austin Darr and Alex Chudzinski each shot 86.

"It was rough out there, nice and dry," Darr said. "The greens weren't holding anything. In order to score well on a course playing this tough you have to make good swings and I didn't do that."

Ian Mowery shot 89 for Ross.

"I could've done better — a lot better actually," Mowery said. "I couldn't hit a straight ball, couldn't hit a fairway, overall it was a tough day."

Bellevue placed fifth, led by Tayler Radloff who shot 82. Justin Schultz finished with an 87, Evan Radloff shot an 88 and Cory Marvin carded an 89.

"It was rough, a little windy early on and the greens were very, very fast," Evan Radloff said.

Evan sank a 55-foot putt for birdie on 13 and said that was without a doubt the highlight of his round.

Gibsonburg didn't shoot

as well as they would have liked and finished sixth. Jared Shafer recorded a pretty impressive 81 on a day when only a handful of golfers shot in the 70's. Also scoring for Gibsonburg was Austin Shafer who scored 90, Nick Delventhal with a 91 and Gary Green carded a 94.

Lexington just narrowly edged out Genoa by two strokes with a score of 332 to 334. Perrysburg won the invitational by a fairly large margin with a score of 319. The Yellow Jackets were led by Mitch Blumberg who fired a 78 and Dan Lopez who shot a 79.

"I played pretty well given the conditions and considering this was the first time I have ever played this course," Lopez said. "I just tried to hit a lot of greens in regulation, two-putt and get out of there with par and I did that for the most part."

FREMONT ROSS

Coach: Nick Rider, 1st year

2007 Record: 1-12 overall, 5th in GBC

Key losses: Victoria Aseltine, four varsity letters

Key returners: Austin Darr, sr., three letters; Zach Kiser, sr., one letter; Chase Wilhelm, sr., one letter; Dexter Foos, jr., one letter.

Key newcomers: Alex Chudzinski, sr., transfer from SJCC; Brandon Hoelzer, fr.; Clay Schwartz, fr.; Ian Mowery, fr.

Outlook: Darr emerging as leader of Little Giants ... Rider described him a golfer with a positive attitude who sets a good example ... Darr shot a 37 at Greater Buckeye Conference Championship to make All-GBC First Team ... The only Ross dual-meet win came against Gibsonburg in final regular-season match ... Key matches come against Napoleon, Sandusky, Marion Harding and Findlay, who are GBC and district opponents ... Rider said, "I'm looking for a giant turnaround. After winning only one match last season, it can't much worse. This team is starting to learn how to be competitive, to win matches and to get all of its players shooting well on the same days. We have some very promising freshmen players, who could make a solid team by stepping up with consistent play. The upperclassmen need to set the bar and challenge them to do well because it will make us a stronger team."

FREMONT — Oh, what a difference two days can make.

On Monday, Fremont Ross freshman Clay Schwartz shot a 93 at the Fremont Invitational. Wednesday, he led the Little Giants' golf team to a victory over cross-town rival St. Joseph Central Catholic, 325-334.

Schwartz carded a 78 at the Fremont Country Club.

"I played pretty good. I had a lot of decent shots," he said.

Clay's improvement didn't go unnoticed by either team's coach.

"Clay played very well out there today, he had a great round," said SJCC coach Greg Kohler. "We had four decent scores, but nothing spectacular."

Also scoring for the Streaks was Max Yellstrom who carded an 83, Garrett Steinle with an 84 and Jordan Frank who shot an 80. Jordan Frank carded a 37 on the front nine of the country club, including a long par putt on the eighth hole, but that didn't carry over to the back.

"I missed two short putts on the back nine and took a triple bogey on hole 16," Frank said.

Brandon Hoelzer carded a respectable 80 for the Little Giants. Like Frank, Hoelzer also carded a 37 on the front nine, but that's not what he was focused on after his round.

"I didn't play good on the back nine," he said, referring specifically to the last six holes in which he shot six over par.

"My iron play let me down and I didn't hit very many greens in regulation," Schwartz said.

Alex Chudzinski shot an 83 and Austin Darr carded an 84.

"Our team stepped up big time and improved from just two days ago," Ross' coach Nick Rider said. "The course conditions were the same as they were on Monday and for us to improve as a team from 344 to 325 is something I definitely appreciate."

Chudzinski, Darr, Hoelzer and Schwartz all improved from their scores on Monday.

Austin Darr and Clay Schwartz each fired a 37 as Fremont Ross remained unbeaten with a 151-168 victory over Gibsonburg at Sycamore Hills Golf Club on Thursday.

"I puttied very well after struggling early on," Darr said. "I took advantage of the holes that I had to."

Brandon Hoelzer added a 38 and Alex Chudzinski a 39 for the Little Giants (7-0).

Gibsonburg's Nick Delventhal earned medalist honors with a one-under 36.

"I birdied the par-3 fifth and that changed my whole round," said Delventhal, who pared the remaining four holes.

Jared Shafer shot a 39, Jon LaPlant a 44 and Austin Shafer a 49 for the Golden Bears (3-1). LaPlant played his first varsity match.

"I was really excited about Nick's 36 and Jon, but I can't have experienced kids shooting in the high 40s and 50s," Gibsonburg coach Tom Hiser said.

Little Giants coach Nick Rider was happy with Wednesday's results heading into Greater Buckeye Conference play.

"It's good for the kids to play an easier course and shoot some low scores to build up their confidence," he said. "A win like this combined with the low scores we shot is just what these kids needed to get their mind right going in to GBC play."
