Chapman places second at Tiffin Carnival

TIFFIN — St. Joseph Central Catholic cross country coach Gary Logsdon was extremely impressed with the effort of junior Mike Chapman Saturday at the 30th annual Tiffin Carnival Cross Country Carnival at Hedges-Boyer Park.

Chapman placed second in the Division III race consisting of around 300 runners with a time of 16:42.

"I'm elated with Mike's performance," said Logsdon. "He ran a great race, there is no other way to put that. It was one of those races where you are like 'Wow look at him go.'"

Chapman placed four spots ahead of Old Fort star Jeremy Riehm, who was sixth in 16:47.

The Crimson Streaks boys placed 33rd in the meet with 909 points.

St. Joe's girls were 11th, despite the fact that top runner Keri Oxley missed the race due to illness.

Joni Wilhelm led the Streaks with a 31st-place finish in 21:17, Trish Snyder was 34th in 21:22; Tracy Snyder was 74th in 22:07 and Carrie Zimmerman was 80th in 22:16.

Ross nets two top-10 finishes

News-Messenger reports

GALION — Saturday's Galion Invitational was somewhat of a catch-22 in the eyes of Fremont Ross boys coach John Elder.

"Yes and no," said Elder, when asked if he was pleased with his team's ninth place finish. "Yes, because it was better than last year, we did see some improvement. No, because we were hoping our top five could be a little bit faster."

Jeremy Framstad was the top Little Giant finisher, placing 33rd with a time of 17:32. Ryan Welling's 17:39 was good for 41st place, while Adam Swope finished 55th with a 17:56.

John Framstad finished 61st in 18:05, Josh Burris 86th in 18:34 and Clay Huffman in 19:50.

Jeremy, the younger of the Framstads, drew praise from Elder.

"We knew he'd be good," said Elder.

Framstad's performance also continued the rotation of runners stepping to the top for Elder.

"We knew, with the way the season started, that our top five runners would be interchangeable," he said. "I'd like to see someone step forward to take over."

Coach Cathy Esposito's girls team finished 10th at Galion.

"It wasn't our best performance," Esposito said. "The heat was pretty bad, the humidity was pretty bad, and there were a lot of state-ranked-type teams there."

Molly Gocke was the top Ross finished, placing 19th in 21:12. Abby Cominsky was 31st in 21:37, Jeannette Frontz 64th in 22:52, Jenny Gabel 68th in 22:59, Monica McElfresh 69th in 22:59 and Lindsay Frontz 82nd in 22:32.

"We got a pretty good performance from Molly Gocke," Esposito said. "She's having a fantastic season."

Woodmore's boys finished ninth out of 18 teams, with 257 points. Seth Bringman (33rd, 18:45) and Jason Haar (46th, 19:09) were the Wildcats' top runners.

The Margaretta girls finished 12th, while the boys team took 14th. Katrina Day's 14th place finish led the Polar Bear girls, while Kevin Clapp and Jason Kehres finished 24th and 25th, respectively.

Meredith Magsig led Woodmore with a 20th-place finish (21:03) followed by Kathy Camp (22nd, 21:04) and Amanda Roadarmel (38th, 21:38).

"Connie Camp was sick, and with her not in the picture we struggled a little bit team-wise," Woodmore coach Alicia Wollmering said. "It was great competition. It's good for them to run against competition like this."

Gocke wants to return to state

By MICHAEL PIDANICK
Staff writer

On Nov. 1, 1997, Fremont Ross star Molly Gocke got a taste of the state cross country meet.

She liked what she saw.

"That is a big motivation," said Gocke, The News-Messenger's Athlete of the Week. "Going there with my team was a great experience. I'd really like to go back."

But getting to the state is a lot easier said than done. To earn a trip to the Nov. 7 meet at Scioto Downs in Columbus, an individual runner must place in the top 15 in the regional and district meets. A team must place in the top three in both meets.

Last season, Gocke finished in 114th place, fifth among the Little Giants in 20 minutes, and 51 seconds. Ross earned an 11th-place finish in its first-ever cross country state meet.

This year as a junior, Gocke has been the Little Giants' top runner. She was 19th at the Galion Invitational Saturday, as the Little Giants' girls team finished 10th. She was fourth Tuesday in 20:29 in a Great Lakes League race with Bedford and Findlay.

"She is successful because she has tons of determination," said Ross coach Cathy Esposito. "She wants to perform well and does what it takes to do it."

Gocke runs up to 40 miles a week during the summer in preparation for the cross country season.

"She works real hard," said teammate Jeanette Frontz. "She's real dedicated and wants to win real bad."

Said Abby Cominsky: "She never gives up. If she's trying to pass somebody, she won't give up until she does it."

Although graduation is still 21 months away, Gocke has her eye on the future. She hopes to run in college at West Virginia University.

"My parents (Tim and Mary Gocke) went there and I really like the school," she said. "I've always wanted to go there."

If Gocke wants to run for the Mountaineers, or any other Division I school, she will need to continue her improvement.

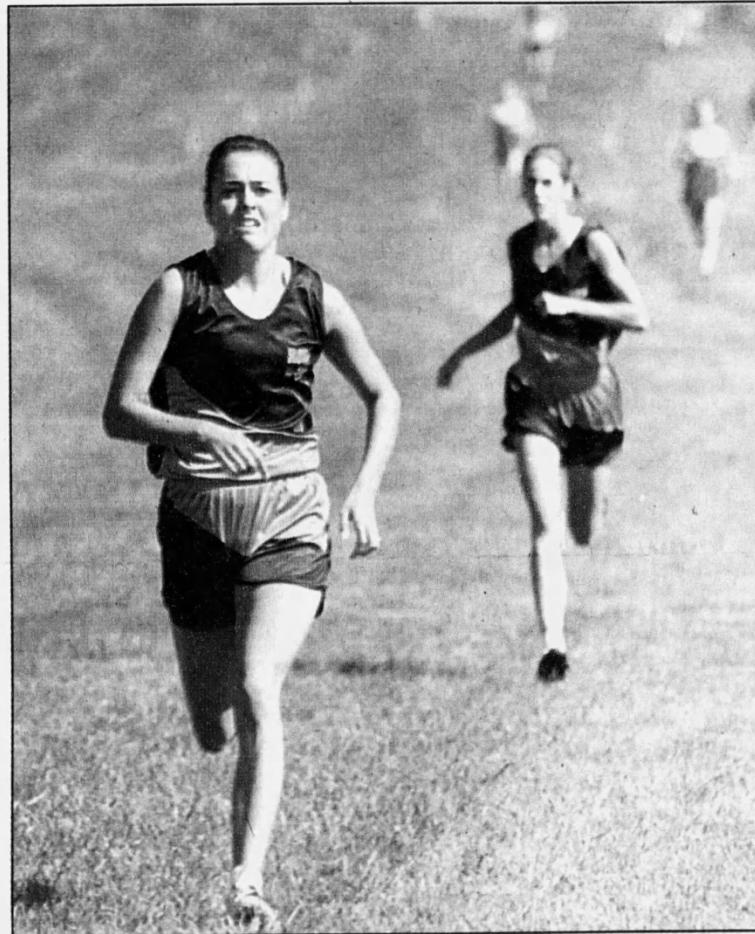

"She will need to improve on her speed and strength," said Esposito, who plans on contacting WVU this week regarding Gocke.

"She got that now, but in college she'll have to have more."

While Gocke has worked to earn all of her successes, she has had plenty of help along the way.

Tim and Mary Gocke have played a big role in Molly's success.

"My parents have given me great support," she said. "They're always telling me to never give up."

Gocke also credits her teammates — past and present — and her coaches.

"We (the Little Giants) all motivate each other," she said. "The seniors that graduated last year have also been a big help."

"We have great coaches, too. They really help us."

Esposito, who is in her eighth year as Ross coach, has been working with Gocke since junior high, and has been her full time coach for three years.

"She has made tons of improvement," she said. "She's improved her time by a minute and a half."

Gocke also runs track for Ross. She runs the mile and the 4x800 relay for Esposito and head coach John Elder.

Gocke sees differences in the two sports. "Track is more speed," she said. "Cross country is more endurance."

Gocke is also a leader for the Little

A hard workout Monday made all the difference Tuesday for the Ross boys cross country team.

The Little Giants took four of the top five finishes and knocked off Great Lakes League rival Clay at Walsh Park.

"We ran a hard workout (Monday) to get ready," said Ross coach John Elder. "Everyone had their best time of the year on this course. They ought to be pleased."

The Little Giants girls also won easily, posting a 24-34 win over the Eagles.

Clay's Joel Harrington was first in the boys race with a time of 17 minutes, 24 seconds. But the Little Giants took second through fifth. Josh Burris led the way, finishing in 17:51.

"I was real happy with my time," Burris said. "I think the workout on Monday really helped, but the weather was also nice. It's nice and cool."

Jeremy Framstad was third in 18:01, followed by Ryan Werling in 18:02, and Jon Framstad in 18:03.

"In big meets, we all try to stay together," said Werling. "Since we don't have an outstanding runner, we're all pretty much all the same, so we try to stay in a pack."

Also for the Little Giants, Ryan Daugherty placed seventh in 18:56, Clay Huffman was ninth in 19:30, Art Neeley was 12th in 20:20, Jamie Brunner was 13th in 20:22 and Dan Burris was 17th in 21:45.

"They all ran well," Elder said. "I was pleased."

The Little Giants were without two of their top six runners. Adam Swope had a soccer game and Matt Kotch was at football practice.

We want to get our top six all under 17:30 in a pack. We'd like to get some into the 16s, but if we're not going to get that, then at least 17:30."

The Eagles' Jodi Harrington, Joel's sister, won the girls race in 19:46. Ross was led by Molly Gocke, who was second in 21:10.

"Molly ran an awesome race," said Ross coach Cathy Esposito. "Her time was great on this course and she's going to continue to work hard."

Ross's Abby Cominsky was fourth in 22:04, Jenny Gabel was fifth in 22:25, followed by Lindsay Frontz, who was sixth in 22:53 and Monica McElfresh, who was seventh in 23:10.

Kayle Crispen was ninth in 23:58 and Nora Reich was 10th in 24:54 for Ross.

Since there is no big weekend meet, the Little Giants are using the time for extra practice.

"We're going to concentrate on hard workouts," Esposito said. "Then we'll reevaluate ourselves and go from there."

Ross girls pack it in for win in Sandusky

News-Messenger reports

SANDUSKY — The Fremont Ross girls cross country team used a pack strategy to beat Fostoria, Sandusky and Sandusky Perkins in a quad-meet Thursday.

"They ran in a pack really well," said Ross coach Cathy Esposito. "We've been trying to do that all year, and today we did it."

Molly Gocke was the top overall finisher for the Little Giants, winning the race in 21:11.

"We got a great performance out of her," Esposito said. "She really looked strong today."

Even more important to Esposito were her next four finishers, who placed fifth through eighth. Jenny Gabel was fifth in 22:34, Abby Cominsky sixth in 22:48, Jeannette Frontz seventh in 23:02 and Monica McElfresh eighth in 23:31.

Esposito was most pleased with Gabel's effort.

"Jenny Gabel ran a great race, she finished second on the team," she said. "As far as performance on the team, that was her best performance ever. She ran a great race."

The Ross boys finished third behind Perkins and Sandusky, with Jeremy Framstad's third place 17:51 leading the way. Jon Framstad placed fifth in 18:04, Josh Burris sixth in 18:12, Ryan Daugherty 12th in 19:00 and Clay Huffman 24th in 20:14 to round out the Little Giant top five.
