

1987 Season Review...

Ross track and tennis teams slated to open Tuesday

By BOB MARKER
Staff writer

Norm Bray and Harold Zienta are like most high school coaches when it comes to forecasting the fortunes of their teams: cautious.

"Right now," Bray, the Ross boys track coach, began, "we are a young squad. We had a good turnout of 45 and the spirit and enthusiasm are good but what happens, we will have to wait and see."

Zienta, entering his seventh year as the Little Giants girls track and field coach said, "On paper, it looks like we are going to be good."

Then, Zienta added the big three-letter word.

"But ... we have had a lot of injuries," he cautioned.

Bray has been involved with Ross track teams since 1962 and is "having a lot of fun," he said. This year's team promises to be more "fun."

Nine lettermen return to Bray's fold from a team that sent 11 athletes to the regionals last season. The only bad thing was that none of the 11 qualified for the state meet but some were close.

Brian Doty, who along with Steve Lettrring, will serve as co-captains, just missed making the state show in the 800-meter run. He will be in that race and could run the 1600 and 3200 races. He is also a part of the 3200 relay team that made it to the regional.

Lettrring, also a senior, qualified for the regional in the 110 high and 300 low hurdles races. Another senior letterman, Jim Carroll, will again be pole vaulting for Bray.

Junior lettermen Scott Nossaman and Cardell Beachum will be in the distance events and in the shot put and discus events, respectively. Nossaman was also a member of the Ross 3200 relay last season.

Bray has four sophomore lettermen: sprinter Maurice Jones, distance runner Aaron Potter, long jumper and discus thrower Jeff Draeger and sprinter/hurdler Terry Hall.

"We will have to scratch hard to get points in the middle distances," Bray said. "Two of the people we were counting on in those events are academically ineligible."

Last season, Bray's team finished second in the Buckeye Conference meet.

Zienta's team was also second in the 1986 BC meet and added a fifth in the district and a seventh in the regional meets.

From the 40 girls out, Zienta has eight letter winners back including Shannon Carter, a junior, who qualified for the state meet in the 100 hurdles and as a member of the 800 relay team. The Ross coach said he expects Carter to be running both the 100 and 300 hurdles by season's end.

Also returning in the hurdles events is the coach's daughter, junior Jenny Zienta.

Senior sprinter Missy Provrad, a member of the state meet 800 relay squad, will anchor the sprint events once she is recovered from a nagging back injury. Jennifer Rollins, a key sprinter last season, is out for the season after suffering a freak knee injury last fall. While in one of the lines forming a funnel for the Ross football team to run through, Rollins was hit by a player and suffered the injury.

Cathy Mallia and Nicki Buehler, both seniors, and junior Tami Stanley will lead the distance runners. The trio will run in the 800, 1600 or 3200 runs.

Sophomore Natalie Albert and junior Heather Fought return to high jump for Zienta but Ross is inexperienced in the remainder of the field events.

"We do have quite a few back who have done well," Zienta said, "but right now, we have 10 who are hurting so we will be thin for the first few meets."

The first meet, providing Mother Nature cooperates, will have the Ross boys and girls traveling to Tiffin to challenge Columbian at 4 p.m., Tuesday. Ross will host Bowling Green in a 4 p.m., Thursday, meet.

The weather has not treated Pete Michaels' Ross boys tennis team kindly this chilly spring.

"We have not been able to get out much and our practices have been limited at the YMCA," Michaels explained, "so it is difficult to say what we are going to do."

"We have had only four outside practices so we have not been able to have any challenge matches yet."

The Little Giants are slated to host Tiffin Columbian in a 4:15 p.m. match, Tuesday at Rodger Young Park.

A pair of seniors and a freshman will make up the singles players in the opening match. Tom Myers, a senior, and freshman brother Rob will be in the first and third courts, respectively, while senior Ramon Eickert will be Michaels' second court player.

In the first court doubles, John Cahill and Kevin Brooks, both seniors, move up from last season's second court slot. Junior letterman Mark Moyer will be teamed with either senior letterman Tom Bowlius or freshman David Dierkscheide in the second court.

Michaels said he has good depth this season, a situation which could lead to some spirited challenge matches once the weather warms.

The other players on the 15-man roster are juniors Don Bowersox, Steve Schwartz and Mike Dixon, sophomores Steve Mielke, Eric Lilley and Don Hoppert and freshman Mark Schwartz.

"The overall picture is that some of my boys have played inside during the winter so I am anxious to see how we fare."

After Tuesday's opener, the Little Giants will host Sandusky Perkins at 4:15, Thursday, also at Rodger Young Park.
